A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T S

I feel it a pleasure to express my deep gratitude to my guide Professor N.R. Sheth not only for his utmost care and patience in supervising my work, but also for his constant inspiration and help.

I am grateful to Professor Charan D. Wadhwia of the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, for his valuable help during the initial stages of my research. I am equally grateful to Dr. Durgadas Bhattacharjee and Mr. M.A. Mannan of the Department of Management, Dhaka University for their help and comments in designing the area of my research. Mrs. Usha Kanhere, Reader in Sociology, Gujarat University, helped me on various occasions. My friends, Mr. Surjit Singh and Mr. Ushakar B. Gothi of Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research and St. Xaviers College, Ahmedabad, respectively, took painstaking care in going through the manuscript and in the use of statistics. I am thankful to all of them.

Messrs. Raghavan and Devarajan of the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad did an excellent job in typing the thesis within the shortest possible time. I express my sincere appreciation to both of them.

Finally, I would like to offer my thanks to the concerned managements and workers for their cooperation in conducting this piece of research.
