PLANS FOR FURTHER STUDY

1. To try out the revised form on larger sample of both normal subjects and psychiatric patients.

2. To use other demographical variables in the analysis of M.M.P.I. responses like education, occupation, type of the family etc.

3. To try out controlling other variables like M.M.P.I. responses of the patients before starting E.C.T and drugs and after the treatment.

4. To analyse M.M.P.I. responses in reference to the premorbid personality, previous mental illness and mental illness in the family.

5. To analyse on a larger clinical sample to see if M.M.P.I. could be used as an prognostic indicator.

6. Finally to develop M.M.P.I. as a diagnostic tool for all varieties of Mental illnesses.
