It is with gratitude that I express my regards to all those who involved in many phases and ways for the successful completion of my research.

My deepest gratitude to my supervisor Dr. K. Jayashankar Reddy for his support, advice, and encouragement throughout the phases of my research journey. His experience in medical as well as academic area, knowledge, and guidance gave me greater insight to my research work. The nurturance provided, availability, patience and approachability of my guide helped me in completion of my work. I am grateful to have a mentor who made me feel comfortable and providing me stimulating ideas related to the topic throughout the phases of my research work.

I am grateful to all the caregivers who participated in the study for being very cooperative and open in sharing their emotions and feelings in spite of emotional trauma and distress they were undergoing. My sincere thanks to all the caregivers of my study where ever they are for providing me an in-depth understanding of their distress which helped me in successful completion of my work.

My special thanks to Mr. Anil, coordinator of Malnad Hospital and Institute of Oncology, for granting me permission for pursuing my research and also to the hospital staff for being cooperative and helpful during the period of my data collection in gathering the necessary information required for my research work any day of the week, with a smile.
My earnest thanks to pro-vice chancellor of Jain University Dr. Sandeep Shastri for giving his valuable support and encouragement and to Dr. Shailaja Shastri, Head, Department of Psychology, Jain University, for painstaking and time consuming efforts to set my orientation right.

My sincere thanks to Dr. Ramesh, Head, Epidemiology & Academic section of Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology for valuable suggestion which helped me in designing my study. Special thanks to Dr. Ashok.H.S., Department of Psychology, Bangalore University, for his guidance, suggestions, advice and statistical analysis which helped me in finishing my research work in a meaningful manner.

I thank my friend Dr. Jyothsna Kamath. B., for her never ending support and encouragement and for her willingness to step in at the last minute when needed. I also thank her for the technical help extended.

I would not have reached this stage without the encouragement, emotional support, love, patience, and blessing of my mother throughout the period of data collection, analysis, and writing. A big thank you is for my husband whose support was always unconditional and special thanks to my brothers and sister.
