ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Working on the Ph.D. has been a wonderful and often overwhelming experience. It is hard to say whether it has been grappling with the topic itself which has been the real learning experience with how to write papers and proposals, work in a group, stay up until the birds start singing and stay focus. In any case, I am indebted to many people for making the time working on my Ph.D. an unforgettable experience.

First of all, I find great pleasure in expressing my deepest sense of gratefulness to my supervisor and guide, Dr. B. R. Sankapal, Associate Professor, Applied Physics Department, Visvesvaraya National Institute of Technology, Nagpur, under whose able and inspiring guidance, I was fortunate enough to carry out this investigation. He evinced great interest in my work and became more of a mentor and friend, than a professor.
