ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I have joined as a full-time Research Scholar in the School of Management Studies, Cochin University of Science and Technology, Cochin in November 1984, for this Research Study. After my joining as a Lecturer in the Department of Marketing, University of Dhaka, Bangladesh in 1980, I had several opportunities to participate in the Seminars, and Workshops relating to agricultural markets and marketing problems. Through this, I have come to know the agricultural marketing problems; specially problems faced by the small agriculturists. It is also a fact that agriculture is considered the backbone of the economy of a country like ours. So, through the improvement of agricultural markets and marketing, the national economy can be strengthened more, which in turn will encourage the agriculturists to grow more quality produce by way of getting more and remunerative price as an incentive. I undertook this study to find out the problems of regulated markets and to suggest remedial measures for the improvement of these markets.

In completing the study I am very grateful to Professor N. Ranganathan, Professor of Marketing, School of Management Studies and Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences, Cochin University of Science and Technology for his invaluable guidance and constant encouragement.

I would like to mention in particular my sincere gratitude to the Government of India for awarding me Scholarship for this research study under the India-Bangladesh Cultural Exchange Programme.
I am also very grateful to the Dhaka University Authorities, Bangladesh for granting me study leave for this purpose.

I am deeply indebted to Mr. B. Ganguly, the Director and other Senior officials of the Directorate of Agricultural Marketing, Government of West Bengal and also to Mr. Kazi Maziruddin, the Director and other Senior officials of the Department of Agricultural Marketing, Government of Bangladesh for extending their full co-operation in the conduct of this study.

I am especially grateful to Dr. Manas Das, Professor, Indian Institute of Management, Calcutta; Dr. O. R. Krishnaswamy, Professor of Commerce and Management Studies, Bangalore University and Dr. N. Rajan Nair, Associate Professor, College of Co-operation and Banking, Kerala Agricultural University, Trichur for their valuable suggestions and guidelines for this research work.

I have to express my sincere gratitude to Professor Dr. N. Parameswaran Nair, the former Director and Professor P. R. Poduval, the present Director, School of Management Studies for the warm encouragement given to me. I should put on record my gratitude to all other members of the Faculty and sincere thanks to the Office Staff of the School of Management Studies.

I also wish to place on record my gratitude to the Librarians and staff of:

.. Cochin University Central Library, Cochin;
.. Kerala Agricultural University Library, Trichur;
.. Kerala University Library, Trivandrum;
.. Centre for Development Studies Library, Trivandrum;
.. Calcutta University Library, Calcutta;
.. Indian Institute of Management Library, Calcutta;
.. National Library, Calcutta;
.. Dhaka University Library, Bangladesh;
.. Agriculture Research Council Library, Bangladesh;
.. National Library, Bangladesh;
.. Food and Agriculture Organisation Library, Bangladesh;
.. Rajshahi University Library, Bangladesh.

My special thanks are also due to Mr. Scaria Varghese and Ms. Elizabeth Abraham, Librarians of School of Management Studies and the Department of Applied Economics for their unstinted co-operation.

I also wish to thank Mr. MGS Panicker for the secretarial assistance he has provided for the completion of this thesis.

I am also greatly indebted to my respected mother and mother's mother without whose blessings this work would not have been completed.

However, errors and omissions are my sole responsibility.

Cochin-682 022, Nov. 1988. MD. ANWARUL ISLAM