ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This thesis is the result of many a long hour involving arduous research and the culmination of a process that included the constant assistance, support & guidance afforded to me by my fellow academicians whom I am deeply indebted.

A special thanks to Dr. C. AHMED BASHA who greatly enriched my knowledge & constantly inspired me and who, in my pursuit of this thesis, had to sacrifice many of his precious hours. He has been able to skillfully manage this research without forgetting the ever essential human relationships. From deep inside, I thank you and your family for the opportune support and help.

I am so grateful to my doctoral committee member Dr. S. Chellammal, Scientist, OPMEC, CECRI Unit, Tuticorin for helping me in Ph.D registration, advice, ethical help and fruitful discussion.

I am thankful to Dr. V. Yegnaraman, Acting Director, Central Electrochemical Research Institute for providing the practical support in allowing me to use the laboratories & facilities. I would like to extend my thanks to former Directors Dr. M. Raghavan and Dr. R. Rajendran for their moral support. My overwhelming thanks go to Er. KR. Ehambaram and Er. K. Nakkeeran for their encouragement and support especially on the administrative grounds. I cannot overstate the importance of his involvement in my doctorate career.
I thank Dr. S. Palanisamy, Chairman, Ph.D cell and Mr. R. Rajasekar, Scientist, Ph.D cell for their valuable suggestions to improve the thesis.

I sincerely thank Vice Chancellor of Bharathidasan University for his kind permission to carry out my research work and for the interest shown by him on the research scholars.

I am particularly thankful to Dr. B. Ramesh Babu and Dr. S. Udaya Bhanu for their invaluable help and friendliness. I would like to extend my gratitude to Mrs. M. Revathi for her friendliness, help, and useful discussions and taught much about analysis. I am indebted to Mrs. R. Seethalakshmi for her laboratory assistance.

I am very grateful to Dr. T. Premkumar and Mr. Thomas Alexander for their editing assistance in writing papers and thesis. I am also grateful to the project student Ms. SP. Deivanai for the time and effort spent in proof reading and help.

I would like to offer my heartfelt thanks to Dr. S. Nathira Begum, Dr. Manuel Stephen and Mr. S. Krishnan for their unconditional and invaluable support.

I thank all my friends for their hospitality and unconditional help through out the tenure. I take this moment to think once again and I would like to thank all those members of the CECRI who have contributed to make my research very pleasant.

A special mention to my parents, who through thick & thin were always there for me and never, doubted my abilities for the achievement of my goal. Huge thanks to my wife and children for being incredibly understanding, supportive, patient, and for putting up with late hours and my bad temper.

All these thanks are, however, only fraction of what is due to Almighty for granting me an opportunity and strength to successfully accomplish this assignment.

M.G. Neelavannan