ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

During my research study and preparation of my Ph.D. thesis at Gujarat University, I received kind support, inspiration and co-operation from large number of scholars. Therefore, I take this opportunity to express my deep gratitude to them.

I am deeply indebted to my guide Professor V.P. Bharadwaj (Prof. and Director, University School of Social Sciences, Gujarat University, Ahmedabad, India). I am permanently obliged to him for his constant encouragement and guidance at every stage of this thesis. I am especially thankful to him for the number of hours he spent for giving me instruction in theoretical models and empirical analysis. He has also patiently and kindly gone through all drafts of this thesis, making important suggestions at all stages. What a fortune to have had him as a guide!

I am grateful to Hon. Prof. S.B. Vora (Vice-Chancellor, Gujarat University) for taking interest in my work and encouragement for its timely completion.

I am deeply obliged and thankful to Prof. G. Raghuram and Prof. Pangotra of Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, India for their constant inspiration, support and encouragement.

I am deeply obliged to Profs. Yogesh Bhatt of Nirma Institute of Technology, Rati Mathur of Aghakhhan Foundation Services and Niti Mathur of Agro-climatic Regional Planning unit Ahmedabad, India for their generous support and help they gave me, especially in improving my understanding of statistical methods and application of statistical techniques.

I also wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to Prof. R.P. Soni, Director, Rollwalla Computer Centre, Gujarat University and their Programmer Mr. Kedarbhai of the same centre for helping me in computation of large number of modelling programmes. Through them, I learned the application of Statistical Techniques in practice.

I am thankful to B.K. School of Business Management staff for their encouragement and support during the time of thesis study.

It is my good fortune and privilege that I got an opportunity to pursue my Ph.D. work in the academically stimulating and amicable environment at Gujarat University, and surrounding eminent institutes such as Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research, School of Planning (Centre for Environmental Planning and Technology), Gujarat Institute of Development Research and Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, Gujarat State, India.

My special thanks are due to Prof. K. Ravi, Prof. Shivanand Swamy, Prof. C.N. Ray, Prof. Chittranjan, Prof. Dinesh Mehta, and Prof. Meera Mehta for their active personal interest and support. I am also grateful to Prof. C.H. Thakker, Prof. P.K. Dave, Prof. P.C. Vora for their kind and friendly encouragement during my thesis work.

I also wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to Dr. S.P. Kashyap, Prof. Rohit Desai, Dr. Vinod Shah and Mr. Satish of Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research for their sincere help.

I am thankful to Mr. Ashok Jambhekar, Librarian and Mr. Trivedi, Assistant Librarian, Indian Institute of Management for his support and co-operation in providing excellent library facilities.

I am thankful to Shri Muralidharan, Vikram Sarabhai Library, Indian Institute of Management for his generous help and word processing of my thesis work.

I am grateful to my brothers Mr. William Abachi Gekonge Accountants with Kenya Ports Authority, Nairobi, Kenya, Mr. Wilfred Matoke Gekonge School Teacher and Daniel Nyambongi Gekonge, Chief Engineer with Ministry of Works Nairobi who have strongly influenced me since my early school days to study social science and Planning and Technology.

I am deeply obliged and thankful to my friends the Achillas - Miss Dinah, and Rachel and Miss Janet Kiage for their enormous love and affection.

I also owe thanks with joy to my mother and father who to me are symbols of love, friction, kindness and understanding. They were the first teachers who laid the foundation of what I am to be human and a radiance of love and understanding, who taught me the value of patience and hard work. They were an inexhaustible source of inspiration and courage. Having them in my mind propelled the successful completion of this thesis. I sincerely hope that this several years project, will make them happy, instil a sense of satisfaction and feel the sacrifice they made, worthy.

I am obliged and thankful to my niece Miss Naom Saisi for her constant love and encouragement, despite the hardships and difficulties.

My sisters, who always and every time throughout my life constitute the pride, prosperity and glory. They supported me morally and intellectually. I am obliged to both of them for their sacrifice and infinite affections.
