A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops

Henry Brooks Adams

I express my respect and deep sense of gratitude to my teacher Dr. P. S. Patel, whose valuable guidance, constant supervision, critical suggestions and encouragement throughout the course of the study inspired me to execute the present work. This thesis is my humble tribute to my guiding teacher.

I am extremely grateful to Dr. Pankaj M. Shah, Director, The Gujarat Cancer & Research Institute, for his keen interest in present work.

I wish to acknowledge Dr. Shilin N. Shukla, Deputy Director, Research & Education, The Gujarat Cancer & Research Institute, for his suggestions and support provided during the course of the study.

I am also thankful to Dr. D. D. Patel, Ex-Director, The Gujarat Cancer & Research Institute for granting the permission for Ph.D. work.

I am also thankful to Dr. R. I. Dave, Deputy Director, Surgical services, and Dr. K. M. Patel, Deputy Director, Medical services, The Gujarat Cancer & Research Institute for their support.

My special thanks to Shree Umedbhai J. Patel for his fatherly support. I am also grateful to Dr. R.K. Patel, (Late) Dr. D.B. Balar and Dr. Harish Kothari and for their help for successful completion the work.

I am also extremely thankful to my senior colleagues Dr. Gira Raval, Dr. Rakesh Rawal and Dr. Beena Patel for their help during work.
I heartily thank my colleagues Franky Jha, Rachana Sainger and Manisha Shah for their help, suggestions and constant support during work.

I wish to add a special word of thanks to my colleagues, Amisha Desai, Tina Dave and Gaurav Pancholi for their help during the present work.

I also thank Smt. Kantaben Solanki for her cooperation during the present work.

I take an opportunity to acknowledge the staff members of Surgical Oncology and Pathology departments for extending their wholehearted support in the study.

I am thankful to Mr. Naresh Shah and Mr. Jagadish Dave, Librarians, The Gujarat Cancer & Research Institute for their co-operation during the work.

Parents are one of the most fundamental and inspirational sources at each stage of my academic carrier. Today, where I am is due to my parents, (Late) Shree Baldevbhai N. Patel and Smt. Maniben B. Patel. I take this opportunity to dedicate this thesis to my parents. I appreciate the constant support offered to me by my wife (Dipika), sister (Alpa) and my son (Meet). Their love, encouragement and care made the present work untiring and pleasant.

I am thankful to Smt. Shakuntalaben B. Desai, and Mr. Rameshbhai Patel for their full support like my family members.

Last, but not least, I specially thank and pray for the patients for their well being without whom, this work would not have been completed. I thank all my well-wishers, who knowingly or unknowingly have helped in completing my thesis.
