I wish to express here my deep sense of gratitude to Professor Jitendra C. Parikh for suggesting this thesis topic and for his valuable guidance and inspiration throughout the development of this thesis. His continued close interest in my progress, his warm encouragement in my endeavours and his ever helpful attitude leave me with a deep sense of indebtedness to him. I am also grateful to him for his careful reading of the thesis manuscript and for making many valuable suggestions for its improvement.

I have benefitted greatly from many illuminating discussions with Professor K.H. Bhatt. I have received much help and encouragement from him. For all this I am very grateful to him. I am also very grateful to Professor S.P. Pandya for his kind interest and encouragement in this work.

I am indebted to Dr. J.P. Svenne for having kindly supplied his computer code on deformed HF widths. My sincere thanks are also due to Dr. D.R. Kulkarni for his friendly cooperation and for supplying me his computer codes for deformed HF, Moshinsky-Brakets, 6J and 9J coefficients.
I am also indebted to Dr. F.S. Chang for his Scalar moments code.

My heartfelt thanks are also due to Drs. S.B. Khadkikar, S.K. Sharma, D.R. Kulkarni and to my colleagues R.U. Haq and A.K. Dhar for the many useful discussions I had with them.

I thank the staffs of the computer centre, the library, the photography and the documentation sections for their kind cooperation.

Financial support received from the Government of India through the Ministry of Education, the Department of Atomic Energy, and the Department of Space is very gratefully acknowledged.

My special thanks are due to Mr. V. Sahadevan for his excellent typing of the thesis. I thank Mr. Ghanshyam Patel for his neat cyclostyling of the thesis and Mr. K. Venugopalan for designing the title page of the thesis.

My thanks are also due to Dr. V.H. Kulkarni for kindly assisting me in the final stages of the thesis.

No list of acknowledgement is ever complete nor what is expressed ever adequate. To all who have helped me in various ways I offer my heartfelt thanks.