Contents

Declaration by the candidate
Certificate of the supervisor
Acknowledgements
Preface

Chapter I
1 Survey of Short Fiction in Commonwealth Countries 1-15
  1.1 Mapping the Short Stories of Chiefly:
    1.1.1 New Zealand
    1.1.2 Australia
    1.1.3 India
    1.1.4 Africa
    1.1.5 West Indies
    1.1.6 Canada

Chapter II
2 Research Methodology 16-25
  2.1 Description of Research Tools
  2.2 Mode of Application
  2.3 Utility of Tools:
    2.3.1 Selection
    2.3.2 Parallelism
    2.3.3 Cohesion
    2.3.4 Deviation

Chapter III
3 Katherine Mansfield: The Story-Teller in Making 26-35
  3.1 Biographical Sketch
  3.2 Mansfield and her Contemporaries
  3.3 Mansfield's Contribution
    3.3.1 An Assessment of her Work: Book by Book
Chapter IV

4 The Short Story: A Popular Genre
4.1 A Collocation of Definitions
4.2 Evaluation of the Short Story
4.3 Short Story: Home and Abroad

Chapter V

5 Linguistic Stylistics: The Frame and the Tool
5.1 Definitions
5.2 Genesis of Linguistic Stylistics
5.2.1 Traditional View on Style
5.2.2 Modern View on Style
5.2.2.1 Semiotic View
5.2.2.2 Semantic View
5.2.2.3 Style as Selection, Cohesion and Parallelism
5.2.2.4 Style as Deviation

Chapter VI

6 Style as Selection, Parallelism, and Cohesion: Mansfield's art under Scrutiny
6.1 SPC: Definitions and Explanation
6.2. SPC Analysis-
   6.2.1 Bliss and Other Stories
   6.2.2. In a German Pension
   6.2.3 The Garden Party and Other Stories

Chapter VII

7 Style as Deviation: A Probe into Mansfield's Art
7.1 Deviation–Explanation and Mode of Operation
7.2 Forms of Deviation
7.3 An Examination of Deviation:
   7.2.1 Bliss and Other Stories
   7.2.2. In a German Pension
7.2.3 The Garden Party and Other Stories

Chapter VIII

8 Conclusion: A Re-valuation

8.1 A Resume of the Findings

8.1.1 Statistical Ratings of the Analysis
8.1.2 Mansfield as a Linguistic Innovator
8.1.3 Details of Mansfield's New 'Style'

8.1.4 Final Salutation

Bibliography