BIBLIOGRAPHY

Books:

Devadas, P.R. (Compilation) Text Book of Home Science. Ministry of Food, Agriculture, Community Development and Cooperation, Govt. of India, New Delhi, 1959.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Papers, Articles and Periodicals:

Agrawala, B.B. Reorganisation of the syllabuses in schools.

Chachere, Nan Wells. Why high school girls elect home economics.
Cope Lovasas High School. Jr. of Home Econ.,

Coon, I. Beulah, New directions for Secondary Education.

Cooper, Belly Fox. An evaluation of the home economics programme in Dunklin County, Missouri. Cited from Home Economics Research Abstracts, AHEA, Washington, 1968.

Deulkar, D. An evaluation of the home science curriculum.

FHA Survey Indicates Home Economics Favoured. Jr. of Home Econ.

Garrett, L.D. Attitudes of senior high school girls toward home economics. Jr. of Home Econ., Vol.50,
February, 1958.

Hall, A.Olive. Attitudes towards homemaking education in the secondary schools of California. Jr. of Irvin, T. Lathrop. A study of high school size and course pattern on achievement in college home economics.

Roy, B. An investigation into the teaching of home science in the higher secondary schools for girls in Delhi State. Cited from Annotated Bibliography of research related to home science in India, Faculty of Home Science, Baroda, 1967.
Saraswati, L. S. Variations among income groups in equipment available in homes of girls enrolled in home science in the city Madras. Cited from Annotated Bibliography of research related to home science in India, Faculty of Home Science, Baroda, 1967.

Sharma, Basanti, A critical evaluation of high schools' home science curriculum and its teaching in the schools of Lucknow. Cited from Annotated bibliography of research related to home science in India, Faculty of Home Science, Baroda, 1967.

Staff, of Shri Avinashilingam Home Science College, Coimbatore, Aims and Objectives of Studying home science from the students' point of view. Proceedings of the 4th Biennial Conference of Home Science Association of India, October, 1958.

Reports and Proceedings:

Unpublished material:

Miscellaneous

Course Description. Faculty of Home Science, University of Udaipur, Udaipur, 1977.

