The journey of Ph. D. started with both a painful and pleasant experience. During the course of my research work I came across great number of peoples whose suggestions and contribution in assorted ways to the research and helped to prepare this thesis. I would like to thank everyone who has been important to the successful comprehension of my work and thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one. There are many people who deserve more than just an acknowledgement on this page. The following people merit my heartfelt gratitude.

First and foremost, I would like to record my gratitude to my Research Guide Dr. T. V. Ramana Rao, Professor, B R Doshi School of Biosciences, Sardar Patel University, trusted in my potential from the beginning of this research and throughout the work. I am extraordinarily opportune in having him as my guide. I recognize with happiness and respect that any scholastic and scientific advances that I may have made in the last few years are largely due to the intense and precise efforts of my guide. Any progress towards my research tenure becoming an independent, objective thinker would have been impossible without his infinite patience and kind support. I am very much obliged his sincere critiques, valuable suggestion and appreciation when deserved. This thesis would not have been possible to finish without his input and encouragement. I sincerely respect him for his devotion to work, co-operation and encouragement particularly in the writing of the research papers and participation in the conferences during my research tenure. I thank T. V. Ramana Rao Sir for being such a wonderful guide and ideal role model. I owe much to his intellectual ship and thank him from the depth of my heart and will be ever remembered with deep sense of gratitude. A special thanks to Vasanti mam and Sirisha for all the love, care and concern, as like my family.

I feel highly privilege to thank Prof. K. S. Rao for his constant support, inspiring encouragement and timely advice throughout my research. It is my pleasant duty to express my gratefulness and sincere thanks to Dr. A. S. Reddy for his kind support, valuable suggestion and motivation throughout my research work.

It is my privilege to acknowledge the present Head, Prof. A. V. R. L. N. Acharya and Prof. Kiran Kalia, Ex-head, Department of Biosciences, Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar, Gujarat for providing the necessary facilities within the department. I extend my gratitude to Prof. I. L. Kothari and Dr. J. P. Patel for their encouragement and love. I sincerely appreciate Dr. R. B. Subramanian, Dr. J. S. S. Mohan, and Dr. Natraj for providing boost, moral support and encouragement. A word of gratitude goes to the rest of the staff of the Department for their whole hearted co-operation.

‘When the going gets tough, the tough get going’...This phrase has been apt as I could really sail through the rough storms with the everlasting and unconditional friendship of my dear friends, Anjali Bose and Soumya Menon. It gives me a great pleasure in acknowledging my dear friends Soumya and Anjali for everything... Words are insufficient to thank them enough ...They have helped me scientifically, practically and even emotionally throughout my research tenure. I am also immensely thankful to Soumya for cooperation and her company for tea in the canteen and also for sharing her lunch to me during my complete phase of Ph. D. I also thank to my friend Anjali (my roommate) for her advice, scientific discussion, research paper writing, laughter, computational work and all the enjoyment and masti...... They have always been a wonderful cohort....their support and encouragement makes me owe them a lot.... I will really miss those weekend celebrations which often recharged us for the forecoming hectic weeks. I am really very fortunate to have friends like you.

I also would like to thank Mr. Narendra Chouhan, Scientist, Institute of Plasma Research, Gandhinagar for his valuable technical support during SEM analysis at FCIPT, IPR.

I am thankful to University Grant Commission (UGC), New Delhi, for the offer of the Research Fellowship Scheme for Meritorious Student (RFMS) and Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) for SRF, financial assistance and the authorities of Sardar Patel University for providing me all the necessary facilities.
It is a matter of pride and honour to acknowledge my parents, without whose support this work would have not been accomplished. My father, Babulal L. Gol and my mother, Babeeben B. Gol deserves the most distinct position. Words fall short for their unconditional love, support and cooperation right from the beginning till date. Their advice, care and sacrifice for me will never be repaid. My special thanks to my little brothers Mukesh and Mahendra, my elder brother Yogesh Bhai and Sunil Bhai and my elder sisters Kokila, Varsha and Rekha Di for all the support, cooperation and love. My special thanks to my whole family and my Husband Mr. Jitendra Patel for all the help. My heartfelt gratitude to all my nephews and nieces.....Aryan (Gudu), Aarav, Krishi, Prisha and Ayan whose love and smile made forget all the worries and cheered me till my goal. My deepest and lovable gratitude goes to my nephew late Henil, There are no words to convey my emotions and feeling regarding him.

Finally, science belongs to God the Omni scientist, without whom mankind can do no science. Hence I am grateful to him, for giving me this wonderful life and opportunities to do small research in his belongings. I avail this opportunity to bow my head before Almighty GOD (Shree Saibaba) in humility, the source of knowledge and wisdom, for blessing me the good health, strength and perseverance needed to complete this study.
