

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This is one of the most pleasant moments of my life when I have the opportunity to express my gratitude to all those who have, directly or indirectly, contributed to this work. Naturally, the list is quite long but at the same time not complete as I drew inspiration from so many distinguished academicians, colleagues, friends and family members, in addition to my research supervisors to take up this study and take it to a logical conclusion.

In the beginning, I express my sincere gratitude to my research guide, Prof. M.Ravichandran, Head of the Commerce Department, Madras University, Chennai for giving me an opportunity to work under his guidance. This work could be brought in its present form only because of his deep penetration into the research problem, continuous motivation and encouragement. I am greatly indebted to my Joint Supervisor, Prof. Vikas Nath, Prof of Management and Director, Bharati Vidyapeeth Institute of Management and Research, New Delhi whose guidance helped me in shaping this piece of research. His continuous engagement, positive criticism and inspiring guidance always boosted my morale.

I gratefully acknowledge the contribution of Mr. Pankaj Saini, my colleague, for his understanding, encouragement and personal attention for providing me inputs from time to time during the period of this study. My thanks are also due to my colleagues, Mr. Mahesh Chaubey and Mr. Sanjoy Roy, for their valuable suggestions during the writing of the thesis. I also thank all of my friends for their support and encouragement during the course of my study.

I have no words to express my gratitude to my family members, specially my mother-in law, father-in-law, my mother and father for all the sacrifices that they have made on my behalf. Their blessings sustained me thus far. At the end, I would like to express appreciation for my beloved wife Megha Chauhan, who was always a support to me throughout the course of the study and was readily available when there was no one to answer my queries.
