ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Here, I would like to acknowledge those persons whose assistance and contribution was determinant in the realization of this thesis, which otherwise would not have been possible. Various people have contributed to and influenced me during my research work, which I cannot list them all and must ask the forgiveness of those I omit.

First and foremost, I bow my head in reverence to the Almighty God for providing me the positive strength and energy to work on this topic and enabling me to reach far beyond my own restricted ambit of thought and action.

I feel honored to express my profound regard and a deep sense of gratitude to my worthiest and most esteemed supervisor Dr. Neena Malhotra, Reader, Punjab School of Economics, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar for her valuable, sagacious and constructive guidance. She provided intellectual, creative and affectionate support to me throughout this research work. She has always been there to help, not only in research work, but also in emotional ups and downs one goes through during the research work like mother. Without her constant inspiration, I would not have been able to successfully handle this task. Many thanks for her understanding and generous attitude for keeping her doors open all the time. For me, she is next to God.

I am also thankful to Dr. Vikram Chadha, Head, Punjab School of Economics, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar for providing me all required facilities to complete the research work. My deepest thank is also due to Ex-Heads of the department, Dr. Paramjeet Kaur Dhindsa, Dr. Gian Kaur and Dr. Parminder Singh.

I duly acknowledged the services of the staff at Bhai Gurdas Library, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar. My thanks are also in store to S. Mukhtiar Singh, Assistant Librarian and to the whole library staff of Departmental Library of Punjab School of Economics, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar for extending facility. I thank to librarians and other staff members of various well known institutions - V.V. Giri Institute of Labour, Management Development Institute (MDI), Institute of Applied Manpower, Rattan Tata Library (Delhi University), National Council Applied Economic Research (NCAER) and Institute for Human Development for providing library facility.

I thank to HR managers and key persons of various Information Technology organizations - Vikram, Dinesh Khanna, Ikra Mula, Ravi Shankar Pandey, Siby Joseph, Poonam Bharti, Alok Nagar, Damini, C. Royal, Vishal Narang, Amanpreet, Shinky, Ashutosh, Varun and Richa who rendered extensive support in collecting statistical data. I am sincerely grateful and indebted to Jai Singh and Mohan Singh, (Labour Enforcement Officers) and Manmohan Singh, (Sr. officer of SCL) for their continued support and providing me all the facilities for the smooth conduct of my work and for the completion of this challenging job.

I cannot resist the joy of bowing my head before the fountain-heads of my inspiration for having attempted to undertake this arduous yet creative task, while my parents and brother, Rajat Gupta, stands before me as an enterprising and dynamic force. Without their trust, encourage, emotional and financial support, I would not have been to complete my research work. I am very thankful to my mother especially for her continue support and motivation to complete research work.

I do not know what this work would have been but for the self-effacing support of my relatives Rajinder Gupta, Sushil Gupta, Shant Prakash, Nirmala Gupta and Rajni Dee (Lect.) . I express my heartfelt thanks to them for their constant guidance and support throughout the period of my research. I express my sincere appreciation to my friend Gurvinder Preet Kaur and her husband for their co-operation and courage to realize my goal. I am very thankful to Anil Joshi who helps me in solving problems related to data analyzing.

I have tried my best to access the latest, burn and hot subject-matter related to ‘Human Resource Development Practices in Information Technology Industry in India’. I thank the writers and researchers who made my task easy and give me benchmark to proceed further in the realm of research.
