ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me great pleasure to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr O.P. Goyal, Professor and Head, Department of Political Science, M.D. University, Rohtak under whose direct supervision and stimulating guidance, this research work has been carried out. I can't help registering my feeling that Dr Goyal was easily accessible in and out of his office, whenever I was in a dilemma and needed his valued advice and guidance. In fact, my gratitude to him is too deep for words.

I am grateful to all other faculty members for their useful suggestions and valuable help.

I am also thankful to whole of the Library staff of M.D. University, Rohtak for their co-operation in providing me all available reading material. I also express my sincere thanks to the members of the staff of various libraries at different stations for rendering me their help and co-operation.

I am indebted to the authors and scholars whose scholarly writings and viewpoints have been made use of at various places in this research work.

Last, but not the least, Mr Baldev and Mr Manoj of M/s Happy Photostat, Rohtak deserve my thanks for typing out the manuscript so neatly and carefully.

For all this I am deeply grateful.
