ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to extend my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Qamar Hasan, Department of Psychology, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, under whose guidance the study was carried out. I sincerely acknowledge his sustained interest, dedicated supervision and perceptive advice that helped in great deal in giving this study its present form.

I am grateful to Professor Afzal Kureshy, Chairman, Department of Psychology, AMU, Aligarh, who extended all possible facilities in carrying out the present research work.

To Professor S. Sultan Akhtar, I owe a special debt of thanks who showed keen interest in my work and was a constant source of encouragement.

My thanks are also due to my parents, brother, Dr. Md. Liaquat Ali and friends Dr. (Ms) Nazoora Khan, Ms. Masroor Fatima, and Ms. Al Sahiba for their love, affection and constant encouragement.

I am thankful to my colleagues and staff members of the Department of Psychology, AMU, Aligarh, for their helpful discussion and cooperation during the completion of this study.

The Indian Council of Social Science Researches and the Centre for the Study of Developing Societies,
Delhi, deserve my special thanks for providing me the Institutional Doctoral Fellowship to pursue my research.

Thanks are also due to Mr. Mashhood Alam Raz for typing the manuscript.

ALIGARH
21/10/89

NAIMA KHATOON