"Praise be to Allah who teacheth by the Pen, teacheth man that which he knew not"

It is an immensely pleasurable moment to have an opportunity to express my thankfulness to all those who are involved in completion of my thesis. First and foremost, I would like to thank the founding father AMU, Sir Syed Ahmad Khan for founding this institution, where my dreams have turned into reality.

I express my sincerest gratitude to my learned supervisor, Dr. Kr. Sajid Ali Khan, Sr. Lecturer, Department of Psychology, who encouraged and guided me throughout to carry on and complete my research. He, in spite of his preoccupations in academics and responsibilities of N.C.C, spared time in solving the difficulties and suggesting directions conducive to the present endeavor. His invaluable guidance will be treasured throughout my life.

I would like to record my appreciation to Prof. Mahmood S. Khan, Chairman, Department of Psychology, AMU, for providing me all the necessary facilities for research in the department.

I would also like to record my debt to my teacher Prof. Akbar Hussain for his specific suggestions and valuable contributions. He has always been a source of encouragement and help for me.

It is my duty to thank the textile industry workers who readily accepted to be the subjects for this study. This work could not have been accomplished without their cooperation.
I feel impelled to record my indebtedness to my friend Shaili Misra, who was always there when I needed. She always stood as a wall to support me during the thick and thins of my research work. I am heartily grateful to her for encouragement in all ways.

I cannot adequately express the appreciation that I feel, towards all my friends who have helped me in a variety of ways, with this undertaking. In this context I would like to mention the names of Shabana Maqsood, Shaista Ahmad, Sara Alam, Runa, Sabahat, Majda, and heartfelt juniors Faheem, Amjad, Shahnaz, Nadeem and Taheera who always encouraged me to keep up my spirits.

My special thanks are reserved for Md. Mannuwar, S.P.M., AMU, who inspite of his university work and studies spared time for me and kept on inspiring me during ups and downs and helped me in the completion of my research work.

I would like to pay special thanks to Mr. Ashfaque Ahmad, Systems Analyst, Computer Centre, AMU, for the pains he took for statistical analysis. I acknowledge the hard work of Salman Hamid, Bilal Akhtar (Goldy) of Global Computer Services, Rafeeq Complex Aligarh, for typing all that nonsense over and over again and turning it into a real manuscript.

I thank all others, who directly or indirectly contributed in one way or the other, but could not find space here.

I am thankful to my ever loving 'dadi', Mrs. Kamla Devi Misra and 'nani', Mrs. Manjula Shukla for their love and affection. I know that, their blessings had leaded me till this place. This work would not have been possible but for generous help of my Rekha Aunty and Arun Uncle. I shall be failing in my duties if I do not acknowledge their inspiration in my life which is beyond expression that has led me till here.

I offer my thanks to all my brothers and sisters specially, my elder brother Mateen and younger brother Haseen for their moral support and constant encouragement.

Thank you Vidha and Shahida for your belief in me that yes I can achieve my desired goal.

Finally to an extent that defies description, my parents. They have always been a source of inspiration and pillars of hope to which I have always fallen back upon for support during the times of distress. I am falling short of words to thank my mother for showering immense affection, concern and above all her charisma without which I would have been non-existent.

Above all, I thank ONE ALLAH for the help, strength and presence of mind he gave me without which the present thesis would never have been in the light of day, and to crown the work with success.

وآخر دغوا ناعن الحمد لله رب اليبين

I thank Almighty without whose blessings this work would have remained an unaccomplished task.
