It is a great pleasure to express my deep gratitude to my supervisor Professor S. Hasan Ahmad, Department of Political Science, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, for his patient and meticulous supervision of this thesis, and his valuable criticism and suggestions which enormously contributed to the improvement of the work and above all, his personal kindness, understanding and sympathy towards me and my severe limitations. My relationship with him is personal, not formal, and I can say without any hesitation that he has been a guardian angel to me. I can never forget his undiminishing love and affection which sustained me during the pressing moments of this earnest endeavour.

I am highly indebted to Prof. Shan Mohammad, the Chairman, Department of Political Science, for his moral support and intellectual guidance provided to me from time to time, in the pursuit of my research work. I am equally thankful to my respected teachers Prof. T.A. Nizami, Prof. Ishtiaqu Ahmad, Dr. M.A. Kishore, Dr. B. Rahamathulla, Dr. Arif Hameed, Dr. A.R. Bijapur and Mr. Subrahmaniyam who had taught me in graduation and Post-graduation and from whom I learnt a lot. I also express my sincere thanks to other teachers of the Department for their cooperative behaviour and benevolent attitude.

Thanks are also due to the Staff of the Maulana Abdulkalam Azad Library, A.M.U., Aligarh, the Gandhi Peace Foundation and the Gandhi Bhavan, New Delhi. I am also thankful to the Librarian of the Seminar, and the Staff of the office of the Department of Political Science, A.M.U., Aligarh. I pay my sincere thanks to Mr. Hamendra Kumar Sharma for typing this thesis with great attention and devotion.
I also express my heartiest thanks to my dearest writer-friend Mr. Sultan Raza Khan who inspired and helped me morally in the pursuit of my Ph.D. work. I am also thankful to my other friends Mr. Shafatullah Khan, Mr. Alamgir Rizvi, Mr. Malik M., Ashaq Raza and Mr. Mujeeb-ur-Rehman for their moral support and practical suggestions. I am also highly thankful to my friend-like nephew Mr. Z.A. Lasani for his useful help.

I am appreciative to all the members of my family—my respected parents and cooperative brothers - Mr. Anwar Zahir, Mr. Asghar Jamil, Mr. Akhtar Nasim, Mr. Asghar Kamil and Mr. Sayeed Mukhtar alias Babloo. They all are the admirers of the dignity of labour, brotherhood, knowledge and wisdom. I can never forget their hardships and pains taken for making my academic career sound and stable. Moreover, I cannot explain the pain of separation they, particularly my mother, suffered during the pursuit of my academic career. Hence, all of them have become the part and parcel of my heart, mind and soul.

(MAZHAR KIBRIYA)