Acknowledgement

It is rare privilege to express my deep sense of gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Mohammad Muzammil who has devoted countless of days and weekend hours to the creation of the present work, and participated with dedication in the process of its refinement. I sincerely express my thanks to him for his most valuable auspices, incessant encouragement and constant help, which he bestowed, on me to demystify the hurdles falling on my way. The encouragement and help I received from him has been simply beyond description. Through his expert guidance and esteemed supervision I emerged successful in translating my long cherished aspirations into an ever lasting entity, in the form of the present work.

I would like to thank Professor A. A. Nizami, Dean, Faculty of Engineering & Technology, and Professor Md. Hamiuddin, Chairman, Department of Mechanical Engineering for the facilities provided to carry out research. I would like to place on record the help that has been rendered by Dr. Abid Ali Khan of Department of Mechanical Engineering, who not withstanding his busy schedule always had time to look into and resolve any issue worrying me. Special thanks to Mr. Faisal Hasan, Mr. Imran Shafiq and Ms. Saman Ahmad who helped me in almost every stage of my work. I do not have words to properly thank them for the help rendered to me.

Mr. Saeeduddin, Mr. Nisar Ahmad, Mr. Abdul Sattar, for providing technical support in this endeavour. I would also like to thanks all my colleagues and all those who helped at various stages of my research for their understanding and cooperation.

My special thanks to university students and staff members who volunteered themselves to act as subjects for carrying out the experimental task.

I am grateful to my mother who has been a constant source of inspiration for me in this endeavour. It shall be unfair on my part if I do not acknowledge the contribution and help rendered by my wife to me in innumerable ways. She has suffered agony and loneliness during this period. I shall remain indebted to her always. I am also indebted to my children who brought joy by adding music to my life.
