Acknowledgement

All thanks to the almighty Allah, in whose hands lies all the success.

I am profoundly thankful and highly indebted to my guide Prof. S. Imtiaz Hasnain the active brilliant teacher in the Department of Linguistics, A.M.U. Aligarh for his inspiring, valuable guidance and clear direction at every phase of this study without which, it would not have been possible to carry out the study.

I am profoundly thankful to Prof. Mirza Khalil A. Beg, Chairman, Department of Linguistics, A.M.U. Aligarh whose distinctive and wise leadership of the Department is the great motive for the research work to grow and go successfully forward. Thanks are also extended to the staffs in the Department whose high performance has given name and fame to the Department in and out of India.

I am grateful to Prof. Azarmi Dukht Safavi Dean, Faculty of Arts for her cooperation and kind treatment. I also extend my thanks to the Vice-Chancellor, the Controller, the Provost, the Proctor, and every one in the A.M.U. of Aligarh.
I am much grateful to Prof. Salih Ba Surrah, Rector, University of Aden (Yemen) and Prof. Al-Hamdani Vice-Rector, Higher Education and Scientific Research, for their constant support and encouragement to work enthusiastically and for their valuable help, which always came when needed.

I am deeply indebted to the M.S. University of Baroda, to the Department of Linguistics; to the teachers Dr. Sudheer Bhan, Dr. Kumar and the brilliant Indian Linguist, Prof. P.K. Pandey. It is through their effort and teaching that my Linguistic knowledge has grown and developed. My thanks are due to many who contributed in many ways to the present work. Very special word of thanks to my family who shoulder by shoulder bear with me all the difficulties and by their patience and support I could stand in the face of hardships and absence from the homeland.

I also express my gratitude to the Print Point Computers for their flawless typing and timely completion of my work.