CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS...........................................................................................................i-iii

PREFACE...............................................................................................................................iv-v

CHAPTER I ..................................................................................................................................1-58

INTRODUCTION

The Advent of Muslim Rule Political Situation, Conquest of Sindh, Ghaznavids, Ghorids, Slave Dynasty; Qutbuddin Aibak, Iltutmish, Balban, Khiljis, Tughluq Dynasty: Firoz Tughluq, Sayyid Dynasty, The Lodhi Dynasty Ibrahim Lodhi, Mughal Empire Babur, Humayun, Akbar, Din-i-llahi, Jahangir, Shah Jahan, Aurangzeb, Battle of Plassey, The Ulama and the Rulers

CHAPTER II .............................................................................................................................59-87

SOCIO-RELIGIOUS AND INTELLECTUAL LIFE UNDER THE MUSLIM RULE

Education and its Syllabi - Medieval educational curricula, Farangi Mahal, Dars-i-Nizamiyya, Dar-ul-Ulum Deoband, Nadwat ul-Ulama, Muhammadan Anglo Oriental College, Tasawwuf and its Philosophy - Chishti order, Suhrawardiyya order, Qadriyya, Naqshbandi order, Shattan order, The Social Scenario

CHAPTER III ............................................................................................................................88-127

APPEARANCE OF REFORMIST TRENDS

Introduction, Shaykh Abdul Haq Muhaddith Dehlavi, Shaykh Ahmad Sirhindî Mujaddid Alf-i-thani, His theory of Wahdat-al Shuhud

CHAPTER IV ............................................................................................................................128-184

SHAH WALIULLAH, THE GREAT THINKER AND REFORMIST

Introduction, Life and works, Political thought, Social and religious ideas Quran, Hadith, Fiqh, Ijtihad, Jihad, Reason and rationalism, His ideas on Tasawwuf, Impact of Shah Waliullah, Spiritualism, Conventionalism, Traditionalism, Rationalism.

CHAPTER V ...........................................................................................................185-240

19th CENTURY: POLITICAL AND SOCIO-RELIGIOUS CONDITIONS.

CHAPTER VI ..........................................................241-263

CONFLICTING REFORMIST TRENDS IN INDIA: ORIGINS AND DEVELOPMENT

A Re-evaluation of Reformist trends and their sources: Diversity of Races and interests, Maqulat, Manqulat, Spiritual side, Muslim interaction with the Local population, Appearance of reformist trends, Sirhindi's Wahdat al-Shuhud, The Milieu of conflict and divergent reformist ideals.

CHAPTER VII ..........................................................264-343

VARIOUS MOVEMENTS AND LEADING REFORMERS

Introduction, Deoband movement, Maulana Mohammad Qasim Nanautvi, Aligarh Movement Sir Sayyid Ahmad Khan, Nadwat ul-Ulama, Barelwis, Ahl-i-Hadith, Tablighi Jama'at, Jama'at-i-Islami

CONCLUSIONS ..........................................................344-351

BIBLIOGRAPHY ..........................................................352-373