Acknowledgements

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Ekram Khan for his invaluable guidance, enthusiastic support, continuous encouragement and stimulating discussions throughout this research. He always found time to listen to me and follow my progress despite his very busy schedule.

I am also thankful to Professor Mohammed Ghanbari, University of Essex, UK. I am fortunate to have worked under him for one year during the course of this research. This one-year has had an everlasting impact on my career.

I am grateful to the several anonymous reviewers of my papers; their many valuable comments and constructive suggestions helped a lot to improve the outcome of this thesis.

I would like to acknowledge the financial support of the Association of Commonwealth Universities (ACU), UK, and Aligarh Muslim University (AMU), India, administrative support of British Council, India and UK, and the Government of India, without which doing research at the University of Essex, UK would not have been possible.

Thanks are also due to Professor Zia Ahmed Abbassi, Chairman, Department of Electronics Engineering, AMU, Aligarh, for extending all type of administrative help and providing facilities in the department.

I am also grateful to all my teachers, colleagues and friends and in particular M. R. Abidi, Dr. S. A. Rahman, Dr. Omar Farooq, Dr. M. S. Aalam, Dr. Y. U Khan, S. J. Arif, Izharuddin, Usmani Afzal, and Samar Ansari for their continuous support and encouragement.

I would also like to extend my thanks to the people who worked in the Multimedia Networking Laboratory, University of Essex, UK, during my stay there, for the friendly environment and enjoyable experience. Special thanks are due to Dr. R. Razavi, M. Altaf, S. K. Samanta, N. Nawaz, Y. Qadri, S. Moiron and M. M. Alhaisoni.

I would also like to thank all the non-teaching staff of my department, in particular S. A. Farroqqi, Khan M. Akmal and Sulaiman for their generous support.

My deepest gratitude goes to my family members, well wishers and friends for their unconditional support and encouragement, to my wife and children for their immense patience and understanding and to my parents to whom I owe all my achievements.
