ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

With deep sense of gratitude, I wish to express my sincere thanks to my Ph.D. supervisor Prof. Ashok Mittal, Prof. Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh for his immense help in executing and planning the work in time. The confidence and dynamism with which he guided the work requires no elaboration. His assurance at even of the time of busy schedule would be remembered life long. He was responsible for helping me to complete the writing of the thesis as well as challenging research that lies behind it. He had confidence in me, when I doubted myself and brought out good ideas in me. Without his encouragement and constant guidance, I could not have finished this thesis.

It is a profound pleasure to express my sincere and deepest sense of gratitude to Dr. Gautam Naresh, Senior Economist, National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi for his valuable suggestions, creative interest. Profound knowledge and timely wit came as a boon under his guidance to complete this work. I specially thank for the help extended to me when I approached him.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. B.S. Goel, Executive Director, Institute of Professional Excellence and Management, Ghaziabad for providing me leaves to complete this work. He always reminded me that my research should always be useful and serves good purposes. The motivation that he provided cannot be forget.

I am indeed thankful Prof. Abdul Wahab, Chairman, Department of Economics and other faculty members of the Economics Department A.M.U. for their cooperation and timely help.

The much needed but vastly scattered literature on the subject could become available to me due to the rich library of National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi. I am thankful to the cooperation and help provided to me by the staff and keepers of these libraries.
Last, but not least, I thank my parents for giving me life in the first place, for educating me. I cannot forget the unconditional support of my father Mr. Bijendra Ashok Vadra and my mother Mrs. Raj Vadra. Words alone are not adequate to translate my thanks to my mother who encouraged and traveled with me to pursue my interests, my sisters Mrs. Moriena Vadra, Miss. Reena Vadra and my brother Ankit Vadra for sharing their ideas and for listening to my complaints and frustrations and for believing in me.

I am also grateful my brother in law Mr. Rishi Kapoor for his valuable support and encouragement. One person whom I cannot forget to acknowledge is Dr. Saidur Rehman who had taught me the value of hard work and rendered enormous support during the whole tenure of my research. It is a pleasure to acknowledge the encouragement advice and cooperation of my friends, colleagues and fellow research of my department.

Ratna Vadra
01/05/2006
Ratna Vadra
A.M.U., Aligarh