ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Thanks giving and expression of one’s gratitude is a pleasant task on the completion of a work such as this, to accomplish which would have been rather impossible but for the direct and indirect assistance and support of others including the invisible hand. I am thankful to GOD for giving me strength, will power and the support of others in this indomitable task.

I have been benefited from the help of a number of individuals and institutions during the entire course of the preparation of my doctoral dissertation. I would like first of all to express my sense of profound gratitude to my esteemed supervisor, Prof. Ashok Mittal of the Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. He was the first to instill confidence in me for a research career. His learned, gracious and scholarly guidance coupled with genuine and constructive criticisms during the course of my research proved instrumental and enabled me to complete this research thesis. I am indeed thankful to him that, despite his preoccupations and busy schedule, he always spared time for my work and patiently heard all my views about this work.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Gautam Naresh, Senior Economist, National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi and his wife Mrs. Usha Naresh, whose contribution to this dissertation has been immense and immeasurable. He has consistently given me an enormous amount of his time and attention and without his interaction, this dissertation would not have fructified into its present form. He read and re-read drafts and spent many hours of quality time discussing the work with me and constantly stimulated my will power. His contribution to my work is more than what a co-supervisor could have provided. For all this and lot more, I am extremely grateful to him.

I would also like to thank Prof. Abdul Wahab, Chairman, Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh and my respected teachers Dr. Abdul Mannan Sidhiqmi, Dr. Mohd. Saeed Khan, Dr. Shehzro A. Rizvi, Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, for their cooperation and blessings.

My understanding of the several issues relating to the Fiscal Federalism was made easy by Dr. Pinaki Chakraborty, Senior Fellow, National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi. I shall ever-remain indebted to him as also to those authors whose works I have reviewed.

A number of my friends, Amita, Darshi, Geetika, Nidhi, Ruchi, Mrs. Gita have all been a constant source of encouragement and help in my endeavour and so I am thankful to all of them. However, special mention has to be made in this regard, of my friend and colleague Dr. Vandana Raghava, for her timely encouragement, advice and help.

The much needed, but vastly scattered literature on the subject could become available to me due to the rich libraries of National Institute of Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi, Indian Institute of Public Administration, New Delhi, Indian Statistical Institute, New Delhi, Institute of Economic Growth, New Delhi, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh (Maulana Azad Library). I am thankful to the cooperating attitude of the staff of these libraries. To name a few of them, Shri Dinesh Chand, Mrs. Sudha Pandey, Shri Dharamvir, Mrs. Azad Kaur, Mrs. Manju Thakur, Shri Puran Singh and Shri Mohan Singh.

I am also grateful to the administrative staff of the Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, for their timely support and encouragement. To name a few, Mr. Saghir Ahmad, Mr. Aqeel and Mr. Buniyaad Ali.

Perhaps in-time completion of the work for submission was made possible only with the help of Mr. Prasanth Kumar (Sanjay Photostat) who gave a form and shape to the matter.

Finally, I would like to thank my family for their continuous help and support. My father, Shri P.R. Sachdev, mother Smt. Arpana Sachdev always wished to see my work completed. For my will power and working aptitude, I am indebted to my parents. Then, I would like to express my hearty gratitude to my father-in-law Shri T.R Chaudhary and mother-in-law Smt. Raj Chaudhary, who throughout remained a source of inspiration. They had set me free of most of my family responsibilities, though it was difficult. In fact, it was their wish, which I am trying to fulfill.

I am also thankful to my brothers Mr. Rajeev Sachdev; bhabhi Mrs. Jyoti Sachdev, Mr. Sanjay Sachdev; bhabhi Mrs. Meetu Sachdev, Mr. Yatendra Sachdev; bhabhi Mrs. Seema Sachdev and Mr. Amit Sachdev; bhabhi Mrs. Payal Sachdev and my sister-in-law Dr. Yogita, who constantly let me feel that they are with me and they deserve my heartful thanks and wishes. My special thanks are for my brother, Mr. Sanjay Sachdev, who has always taken a keen interest in my work and encouraged me to complete it.

Lot of moral support help and wishes are also provided by my cousins Rajee, Sonia, Preeti, Harsh, Nitin and Mohita I am thankful for their love and support.

Words alone are not adequate to exhibit my thanks to my husband Mr. Yogesh Chaudhary who has always helped me in releasing me of mental tension and often disappointing moments by his consoling words, advice and moral support. He also tried to set me free of responsibilities. The role of my son, Piyaal Chaudhary, is no less important. He has put up with my absence, time and again on account of this work. I am indebted to him for the sacrifice he has given for my work. I really love him a lot. Of course, all of them would be the happiest to see the fruits of their sacrifice.

Though care has been taken as far as possible, to make the presentation error free, the dictum goes, commit at least one mistake so that the reader may feel superior. Surely, I cannot deny the feeling of superiority to my readers.

Date: 13, October 2007
Rashmi Sachdev
AMU, Aligarh