ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is solely and exclusively due to the mercy of Almighty that I have been able to complete my thesis and I bow my head before Him.

In conducting this research I have received generous help from many quarters which I have the pleasure to put on record here.

I take this opportunity to express my deep sense of gratitude to my respected supervisor, Prof. Akhtar Zaheer Rizvi, the present Chairman, Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, for his able guidance, constant support and encouragement which was instrumental in the completion of this thesis.

I express my indebtedness to Dr. Nisar Ahmad Khan, Reader, Department of Economics, A.M.U., who has allowed me to encroach upon his precious time freely for the shaping of the work. I express my heartfelt gratitude to him for his able guidance, constructive criticisms and helpful suggestions and for kindly going through my chapters and organising the work. Without his kind co-operation this work could never have taken the present shape. I owe him a lot as a well-wisher.

My thanks are due to Dr. R. Prakasam, present Director, North Eastern Institute of Bank Management (NEIBM) Guwahati who has given me some illuminating and most valuable comments at the initial stage of my work that proved helpful in improving the work and for allowing me to use the institute library and have ready access to the needed materials. He was also kind to go through my thesis proposal at the start of my study.

I also express my heartfelt gratitude to Prof. P.C. Goswami, present Chairman of Assam Institute of Development Studies and Ex-IFCI Professor, Department of Commerce, Gauhati University for suggesting my research topic, for his valuable comments and suggestions at the start of my work which has proved very helpful.
I gratefully acknowledge the services rendered to me by B. Das, Deputy Director, Directorate of Agriculture, Government of Assam; S.A.N. Khan, Lead Bank Officer, Kamrup District; M.A. Uzir, Kamrup District Agriculture Information Officer; M. Mazumdar, Deputy Registrar of Co-operative Societies; M.L. Nath, Manager, Lead Bank Cell Local Head Office Guwahati; Khagen Phukan, Progress Assistant, Directorate of Agriculture; Debabrata Bhattacharya, Inspector of Co-operative Societies, Registrar of Co-operative Societies, my uncle Imtiaz Rasul and cousin Javed Iqbal who was kind enough to accompany me on several occasions during my field survey work in Hajo Block which was tense at the time of my survey due to army operation in areas around that place.

I am indebted to all the lending institutions operating in the sample villages and to all the sample cultivators for their warm co-operation and favourable response during my field study.

I also record my indebtedness of the officials of the Library North Eastern Institute of Bank Management (NEIBM) Guwahati, U.C.O. Bank Lead Bank Kamrup District, Lead Bank Cell, Local Head Office Baralumukh Guwahati, Statistical Wing, Directorate of Agriculture, Registrar of Co-operative Societies, District Agriculture Office and District Information Office Guwahati; Directorate of Economics and Statistics, Government of Assam, National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) Guwahati, and staff member of Maulana Azad Library, Aligarh for their excellent co-operation and help.

I am grateful to the authorities of Aligarh Muslim University and Registrar Office, Scholarship Section for the award of Departmental Scholarship and grant of financial assistance.

My gratitude extends to scores of my well-wishers, specially my teachers and friends of the Department of Economics, A.M.U., who helped and assisted me whenever required.
My thanks are due to S. Masahab Ali for typing out this work with more than professional interest and with his usual speed, accuracy, neatness and efficiency.

I owe a debt of love to my parents Ataur Rasul and Mrs. Ameda Rasul, my aunty's Laila Ahmad, Rafiqa Ahmad and Samsun Nahar, my sister Mrs. Khurshid F. Hashmi, brother-in-law Masood A. Hashmi and nephews Mohd Nabeel Hashmi and Mohd Suhaim Hashmi for always being besides me and whose love, affection and encouragement made me succeed in my endeavour.

ALIGARH

(FAREEDA SHAHEEN RASUL)