ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is, indeed, difficult for me to express in words my heartfelt gratitude to Professor Q.H. Farooquee of the Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, who very kindly spared his precious time and sat with me for hours together. He took personal interest in this work and enlightened me with his very valuable suggestions and views. Professor Farooquee supervised the writing of this thesis with great affection and concern. In the preparation of this thesis entitled "A Study of Labour Problems in the Sugar Industry of Eastern Uttar Pradesh" I owe my heaviest debt to him, but for whose inspiring and sympathetic guidance this project would never have materialised.

I also wish to record my deep sense of gratitude to Professor I.H. Farooquee, Head, Department of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh for his kind interest in this work.

I am extremely obliged to my friend Dr. S.N.H. Jafri, Lecturer, Department of English, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi, for his personal interest and ungrudging help especially during the final stage of this thesis. Inspite of his pre-occupations, Dr. Jafri gave me the liberty of encroachment on his valuable time and provided constructive suggestions and friendly advice.

I shall be failing in my duty, if I do not express my gratitude to Mr. Shahabuddin Ansari, Librarian, Dr. Zakir Hussain Library, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi, who did not leave any stone unturned in extending his cooperation. He very kindly provided journals, books, reports and other relevant materials through inter-library-loan-arrangement.

My thanks are also due to the librarians: Mr. M.D. Jotwani, Mr. R.C. Kulshreshtha and Mr. M.K. Jain, of the libraries of Sri Ram Centre for Industrial Relations and Human Resources, Ministry of Labour and Employment, Govt. of India, and Planning Commission, New Delhi respectively for their encouraging response.

I am also thankful to Mr. A.H. Ansari, Senior Technical Assistant of the library, Planning Commission, New Delhi and to Mr. M. Kamal, Assistant Librarian, the library, Gorakhpur University, Gorakhpur for their help and keen interest.

I also desire to record my indebtedness to Prof. Rahmat Ali, Head, Department of Economics, Mr. Abdul Haq Khan, Director, Adult and Continuing Education, Dr. Shakil Ahmad, Dr. Khalil Ahmad, Dr. Mazharul Haq, Mr. S. Asad Ali, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi and Prof. Zaneer Ahmad Siddiquee, Dr. Abdul Haq of the Department of Urdu, Delhi University, Mr. Masood Ali Mirza, Department of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh for their unflinching help and advice as and when I needed.

I also desire to express my indebtedness and thanks to all the Government officials, business executives, labour leaders and others who enriched my views through their writings, granted me interviews, furnished the reading materials on the subject and answered my queries. They are so many that it is difficult for me to thank them all by name. However, special mention may be made of Mr. L. N. Wahi, Indian Sugar Mills Association, New Delhi, Mr. Shibban Lal Saxena, ex-M.P. and the pioneer figure in the history of Trade Union Movement in the Sugar Industry, Mr. M. Sharma, INTUC, New Delhi, Dr. A. J. Khan, Senior Lecturer, Tibbiya College, Karol Bagh, Delhi, Mr. Gauri Shankar Sharma, Accountant, the Panniji Sugar and General Mills Ltd., Buland Shahar, Mr. A. Husain Khan, Sales Tax Office, Buland Shahar, Mr. Hashim Ali Khan and Dr. Ali Ahmad of the Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, Mr. Ram Sumiran Singh, Cane Manager, the Ganesh Sugar Mills Ltd., Anand Nagar, Gorakhpur, Mr. Mohd. Nazeer, Assistant Engineer, U.P. Sugar Co., Seorahi, Deoria, Mr. Ghulam Ahmad Qureshi, ex-Zonal Auditor, Cane Cooperative Development Union, Gorakhpur for their generosity in providing me with necessary information and easy access to the concerned records from their end for my thesis.

I feel pleased to record my obligations to all the managers, Labour Welfare Officers and Trade Union Leaders of the Sugar Factories of eastern Uttar Pradesh, who extended their cooperation to me while I visited their factories. I would like to recall the workers' enthusiastic attitude, who used to surround me during personal interviews with expectant and curious eyes. I thank to all of them.

To my friend Mr. Sharafat Ali, my thanks are due for his help in typing the thesis within the stipulated time with care and interest.
