ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all I thank the Almighty Allah for having blessed me to complete this work.

I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my supervisor, Prof. M. Mushtaque Ahmad, Chairman, Department of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, for his able supervision, advice and consistent encouragement during the progress of this work. Having authored a comprehensive textbook on “Theory and Practice of Insurance in India” for educants pursuing business courses in the universities, Prof. M.M. Ahmad is a widely known academic in India and abroad for his specialization in the field of insurance. His depth of knowledge in insurance and devotion to work enabled me to overcome many difficulties during the course of completing this work. He has been a source of inspiration for me. I am extremely grateful to him for spending a lot of his precious time in discussing various aspects of the work. Without his kind supervision this work would have not taken its present shape. I deem it my good fortune to have worked under his able guidance. He deserves special thanks for facilitating a revision of the drafts and offering many useful suggestions for improving the presentation of the thesis.

I wish to place on record my gratitude to Prof. Sharifur Rahman, Prof. B.A. Iqbal, Prof. Mohammad Ali, Dr. S.U. Faroqi, Dr. S. Husain Ashraf, Dr. Mohd. Mohsin Khan, Dr. Nawab Ali Khan, Dr. Imran Saleem and Dr. Abdul Qayyoom etc. My special thanks are also due to Prof. Qamaruddin Khan, Dean, Faculty of Commerce, A.M.U., Aligarh for his constant inspiration, invaluable advice and encouragement. In general, I am thankful to all teachers of the Department of Commerce.

I am grateful to all my well-wishers especially Dr. Najeeb-uz-Zaman Khan Sherwani, Reader, Department of Business Studies, Jamia Millia Islamia University, New Delhi and Dr. Qamar Pervez Rana, Lecturer, Department of Computer Science, Jamia Hamdard University, New Delhi, who gave their valuable suggestions during the course of this study. I am also grateful to Mr. P.S. Upadhyaya, Deputy Librarian, Public Finance and Policy Library, New Delhi and Mr. Diwakar Sharma, Assistant Administrative Officer, Divisional Office, LIC, Aligarh, for helping me in the collection of valuable data. I am also thankful to the Librarian of Planning Commission, New Delhi for providing me access to useful statistical information on insurance.

I am extremely grateful to my mother Khatoon Begum as she always encouraged me and showered her blessings on me. I am very thankful to my brothers and sister, who helped a lot during the course of this study. I am very thankful to Mr. Mohd. Zaid for making my stay at New Delhi very comfortable, during the course of the collection of relevant material.

I wish to acknowledge all kinds of help and cooperation extended by my colleagues, M/s Riyaz Mohd., Qamarul Islam, Zaid Ahmad Ansari, Liju Thomas, Mehboob Alam, Faisal Saeed, Shazia Parveen, and Shabnam Zaheer. I am also thankful to M/s Ali Hasan, Khwaja Pervez and Akram for all kind of cooperation extended by them during the progress of this work.

I must confess here that whatever mistakes still remain in this thesis, I am solely responsible for them.

Finally, I thank to Mr. Kafeel Ahmad of Rehman Typing Centre, Champion Market, Aligarh for typing the manuscript efficiently.
