ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I have much pleasure in expressing my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. M. M. Payak, Maize Pathologist (Associate Project Coordinator), Division of Mycology and Plant Pathology, Indian Agricultural Research Institute, New Delhi and Dr. Abrar M. Khan, Professor and Head, Department of Botany, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, my external and internal supervisors respectively for suggesting this problem, helpful suggestions and for going through the manuscript of this dissertation critically.

I owe my sincere thanks to Dr. S. P. Raychaudhuri, the then Head of the Division of Mycology and Plant Pathology, I.A.R.I., New Delhi and Dr. V. V. Chenulu present Head, for providing me all the necessary facilities and encouragement.

I am very much obliged to Dr. S. K. Saxena, Department of Botany, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh for his keen interest and valuable advice.

I am also indebted to Shri C. Laxminarayan, Plant Pathologist and Shri S. Shankarlingam both of Maize Research Station, Amberpet, Hyderabad and Shri Upendra Gupta, Assistant Plant Pathologist, Agricultural Research Institute, Dholi, Bihar, for their cooperation and assistance in conducting the field trials.
Acknowledgements are also due to Dr. K.N. Agrawal, Statistician, All India Coordinated Maize Improvement Project, New Delhi for his technical guidance in statistical analysis of the data. Gratefulness is also due to Mrs. L.K. Mukherjee, Senior Maize Breeder, I.A.R.I. and V.N. Singh, Junior Scientific Officer, All India Coordinated Maize Improvement Project, New Delhi for their technical advice during the course of this study.

I also wish to record my sincere thanks to Mrs. Janki Kandari, S/ Shri Rameshwar Dayal, Ram Prakash, Vinod Kumar, Zile Singh and Bhagwat Mehta, staff members of Maize Pathology Section of All India Coordinated Maize Improvement Project, New Delhi for the help rendered by them from time to time.

Last but not the least I find no words adequate to express my deep sense of gratitude to Shri S.P. Sharma, my uncle and Mrs. Sheela Sharma, my wife, for their constant encouragement during the course of this study.

NEW DELHI,
