

Fassuolitis, G. and Dukes, P.D. 1972. Disease reactions of Solanum melongena and S. sisymbriifolium to Meloidogyne incognita and Verticillium alb-astrum. J. Nematol. 4:222 (Abstr.).

effect of different levels of certain elements on the development of root-knot–II, effect of different levels of potassium on growth and root-knot development on okra, egg plant and tomato, Ind. J. Nematol. 4 : 25-30.

Heald, C.M. 1969. Pathogenicity and histopathology of Meloidogyne graminis infecting 'Tifdwarf' Bermuda gras root. J. Nematol. 1 : 31-34.

Hewitt, E.J. 1963. The essential nutrient elements : Requirements and interactions in plants. In 'Plant Physiology
Vol. III. Inorganic Nutrition of Plants', Ed. F.C.

Hewitt, E.J. 1966. In 'Sand and Water Culture Methods Used in the Study of Plant Nutrition'. Common Wealth Agricultural

Hisamuddin and Siddiqui, Z.A. 1991a. Histopathology of Luffa roots infected with root-knot nematode and grown at different nitrogen levels. 61st Annual Session of National Academy of Sciences, India, Section Biological Sciences; 6 (Abstr.).

contents of root-knot nematode infected Luffa plants grown at different nitrogen levels. 61st Annual Session of National Academy of Sciences, India, Section Biological Sciences : 13 (Abstr.).

Hisamuddin and Siddiqui, Z.A. 1992a. Pathogenetic iduction of xylem in Luffa root galls induced by Meloidogyne incognita.
Indian J. Applied and Pure Biol. 7 : 15-17.

Hisamuddin and Siddiqui, Z.A. 1992b. The effect of different inoculum levels of root–knot nematode, Meloidogyne
incognita on growth of Luffa cylindrica var Ghiya.

Shafiee, M.F. and Jenkins, W.R. 1963. Host parasite relationship of Capsicum frutescens and Pratylenchus penetrans Meloidogyne incognita acrita and M. hapla. Phytopathology 53 : 325-328.

Wieser, W. 1955. The attractiveness of plants of larvae of root-knot nematodes, Wieser, W. 1956. The attractiveness of plants to larvae of root-knot nematodes.