ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

“The act of thanks giving does not exhibit ones sense of gratitude, but the true tendency of lending a helping hand during emergency and the fact that every work thousands of hands behind it”

The successful achievement of any part of research is attributed to the co-operative efforts. In this one is thankful to get help from number of persons at different point of research work. It is the duty of person who receives support and inspiration from various sources to express his thanks to all of them with a wisdom of deep gratefulness; I attempt to do this bit of pleasant duty through these lines.

I would take this opportunity to submit my deep sense of gratitude of my respected guide Dr. Deshmukh Tushar A., M.Pharm, Ph.D., HOD, under whose dynamic guidance, novel concepts, continuous motivation, appropriate suggestions and encouragement that has been carried out in my thesis work.

I would like to take an opportunity to thanks Dr. R. K. Jat, Department of Pharmacy, Shri Jagdish Prasad Jhabarmal Tibrewala University, Chudela (Jhunjhunu), Rajasthan-333001, India for cooperation in my research work and his valuable suggestions in my research work.

I am to a great extent gratifying and thankful to Dr. R. D. Wagh and Mr. K. P. Chittam, A. R. A. College of Pharmacy, Nagaon, Dhule, Maharashtra for providing me support with required facilities in time and when necessary, with a motivating environment for completion of my project work.

I am very thankful to my all seniors for their advise, encouragement and support. My truthful thanks to animal house helper and animal house In-charge for their kind co-operation and in taking care of animals. I express my regards to my friends for their responsive and moral support.
The last but not the least I am to state that it would have been impossible to carry this research endeavour without the assistance, inspiration and sacrifice of my Parents (Aai & Nana), my Love (Pallavi) & my Sisters, who have taught me to be determined and hold my moral high and are the perseverance source of inspiration and courage. So I take this opportunity to remember and thank them with obligated pleasure.

I would like to thank all who were helpful to the successful finishing of project work and thesis and expressing my apology that which will not mention personally one by one.

Mr. Pachpute Amol P.