ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me immense pleasure to place in record my heartfelt gratitude to my research guide, Professor Mihir K. Chaudhuri, Department of Chemistry, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong for his having taken keen interest in my work and extending inspiration, guidance and constant supervision over all these years of my Ph.D. research.

I wish to thank Dr. M.N. Bhattacharjee for his suggestions and help during the course of my work. My heartfelt thanks go to my colleagues of the laboratory, Dr. S.K. Ghosh, Dr. Z. Hiese, Dr. R.N. Dutta Purkayastha, Mrs. M. Devi, Mr. B. Das, Mr. S. Purkayastha, Mr. M. Bhattacharjee, Mr. C.R. Bhattacharjee, and Mr. P. Paul, and two colleagues of the department, Mr. A. Sinha and Miss G. George for their manifold help and active co-operation over all these years.

It is my pleasant duty to acknowledge with thanks the generous co-operation extended to me by the authorities of the University, the Dean, School of Physical Sciences, the Head of the Department of Chemistry, and the Head, R.S.I.C., for kindly allowing me to use all the facilities required for my research work. I am also thankful to Professor A.L. Verma for allowing me to make use of some of the facilities available in his laboratory. I am very grateful to Professor J. Subramanian and Dr. D.T. Khathing for their interest in our work and their help.
I extend my sincere gratitude to all the faculty members of the Department of Chemistry, NEHU, for their help and good wishes.

Thanks are due to non-teaching staff of the Department of Chemistry and the technical staff of R.S.I.C. for their co-operation during this period of research.

I am thankful to the Department of Atomic Energy, Govt. of India, for financial assistance for an initial period of seven months, and the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, New Delhi, for awarding me a Junior Research Fellowship and subsequently a Senior Research Fellowship, which enabled me to carry out this research.

I must thank Mr. R. Sadhu for taking pain in efficiently typing out the thesis.

I owe gratitude to my parents whose guidance and inspiration has been an important source for this goal. I am indebted to my sisters and brother-in-laws for their encouragement, enthusiasm, and moral support.
