Acknowledgements

I wish to express my gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Shabana Hameed for her encouragement, constructive comments and valuable guidance in completing this thesis. She painstakingly read the whole work with absolute dedication and suggested corrections most sincerely.

I would also like to express my thanks to Prof. S.Z.H. Abidi for his sincere help and readily available guidance which he extended to me during the writing of this thesis. Though he was not my supervisor, he always came forward to help me out whenever need arose. He was a constant source of encouragement and inspiration to me. In fact, I feel lucky to have so many senior teachers to take care of the problems I faced during the course of this work.

I have no words to thank Prof. S. Imtiaz Hasnain who came forward to help me whenever I needed somebody to solve day to day problems. He not only coaxed me to complete the work but also took keen personal interest to correct mistakes and suggested improvements. My thanks are also due to Prof. A. R. Fatihi for his help and encouragement. I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude to Mr. Masood Ali Bag and Dr. Samina A. A. Surti for their valuable suggestions.

I wish to thank my friends and colleagues namely, Mr. Abdullah Shaghi from Yemen, Mr. Dirar Abraheem Dirar from Sudan and Mr. Qasim Al-Zeydien from Jordan who helped me tide over the hurdles I had to cross in the last four years.

I find it most pleasurable to thank Mr. Ali Shahrah who gave some very valuable suggestions for the thesis while he was studying in Hyderabad. I am also indebted to Dr. Hassan Saleh Al Matari who contributed his bit by reading the thesis and his valuable points.

I also thank Mr. Najeebul Hasan Khan of the Seminar Library and the office staff of the department of linguistics for their kind help.

I must admit that this thesis would not have seen the light of the day without the strong encouragement from my family members who extended to me their fullest cooperation to let me work on the thesis with full concentration. I will always remember the encouragement I received from my parents and my brother Mr. Abdulkarim Al-Mehraby.
