Acknowledgement

First and foremost, I pay to Almighty Allah, who provided me an opportunity and ability to accomplish this great task into a practical one. Glory is to Him and may He shower His utmost blessing upon the best and the most perfect of his creations.

Salam to the Allah’s most beloved messenger, Hazrat Muhammed (S.A.W) who is Rehmat ul lil Aalameen.

With great reverence, I would like to express my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to my respected Supervisor, Dr. Liaqat Ali Khan Rao. It is solely because of him superfluous supervision, keen interest, noble advises, futuristic vision and unparalleled endurance that this task was made easy and possible. I can only acknowledge that I am what with my work I am because of him. It is an honor for me to have an opportunity to work under him and one simply could not wish for a better or friendlier supervisor.

I express my gratefully acknowledge to my Co-Supervisor, Dr. Sameer Saran for his affectionate attitude, valuable suggestions and gentle criticism provided to me, time to time inspite of his busy schedule, for the completion of this study. The exchange of ideas and views with him about the subject made it a remarkable achievement.

I acknowledge with thanks to Dr. Liaqat Ali Khan Rao, Supervisor who has been source of inspiration to me for his constant encouragement, able guidance and support.

The indebtedness towards Prof. R. C. Lakhera, Ex-HOD (Geosciences Department, IIRS, Dehradun) is unexplainable who kindly granted me his valuable time and I have benefited by his advice and guidance in many different ways. My vocabulary fails to express my feeling and obligation towards Dr. Muhammed Kudrat, Scientist-G, IIRS, Dehradun for his generous support whenever I needed in the moments of dilemma during course of my study. It shows what a great personality he is.

I express heartiest thanks to my friend and junior Dr. Zahoor Ul Islam for his valuable guidance and providing an experienced ear for my doubts about writing a thesis. He has been an invaluably precious help from Allah and his willingness to help me in all possible way, leaves me speechless. Any gratitude paid to him will be less, as the words can not limit my deep feelings for the unconditional help provided by him. People like him are blessing of Allah in my life that pulled me through this hard time making every thing so easygoing.

I gratefully thank my junior Mr. Mohammad Sadiq who not only provided inputs especially in the curriculum part of this study but also was a good companion and much needed help on an otherwise exhausting field work. In many ways I have learnt much from and because of him. Being my lab colleague he made it a convivial place to work.

This thesis would not have been possible unless my lab colleague Miss. Alia Yusuf would not have intervened. She has made available her support in a number of ways despite just being newly registered. I deeply appreciate the insights she has shared in the relevance of the study to basic education not just in the technology sector. She has impressed me with her willingness to learn how to use both the computer systems and various softwares which I now consider to be in her capable hands and wish her all the luck for her research.

The completion of research work is never a one man show but a collective effort of many well wishers like my juniors Dr. Mushtaq Hussain Wani, Dr. Haris Hasan Khan, Miss. Kanika Sharma for their support and encouragement at every stage. I cannot thank them enough for their contribution through their resources without which the task would have been difficult.

I also extend my thanks to my dear friend Dr. Israr Ahmed for his criticism and immense affection. It is difficult to find words of gratitude in my dictionary to my beloved friend who has been an unaltering pillar of encouragement and optimism to help fight my troublesome times all the life through.

I want to offer my appreciation with great honour and respect to my beloved parents whose prayers have proven beacon for the ship of my career. I pray to Allah that I live up to their expectations. I would like to thank my parents, whose inspiration has been a pillar of strength in my life.

I would also like to thank Mr. Ashraf for the beautiful compilation of my research work which made it presentable.
