I shall never forgive myself if I fail to express my deep sense of gratitude to my late supervisor, Dr. S. Irshad Ali, who inspired me to look afresh on the problems and prospects of Cottong Textile Industry of Uttar Pradesh with special reference to Kanpur. He, however, expired when the work was in the initial stages. May his soul rest in eternal peace!

After a lapse of a few years my present supervisor, Dr. S. Agha Hosain Jafri, instilled in me courage and confidence to continue the work and analyse the problems and prospects of this ancient industry which is facing numerous problems. I have great pleasure in expressing my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. S. Agha H. Jafri, a very senior teacher of the Faculty of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, under whose able guidance this work has been completed. Dr. Jafri has been the stimulant force and inspirer all through my work. He gave me liberty to encroach upon his precious time in spite of his numerous preoccupations. This thesis would not have completed without his help and encouragement.

I also express my profound gratefulness to Prof.
Q.H. Forooqee, former Dean and Head, Department of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, whose varied and rich experiences of research were a source of inspiration to me at all times.

I also owe a debt of gratitude to Prof. Ihsrat H. Forooqi, Chairman, Department of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, who placed at my disposal all seminar facilities and helped me by offering constructive suggestions. I am equally grateful to Prof. Habibur Rahman, Department of Commerce, Aligarh Muslim University, for his help and encouragement during the course of the work.

My thanks are also due to Mr. V.K. Pereshar, Librarian, Ministry of Labour, Govt. of India, Mr. S.M. Zia, Production Manager, Shri A. Kumar, Personnel Manager, Shri Y.P. Sharma, Welfare Officer, Dr. V. Keshyap, Medical Officer, in the cotton textile mills of Kanpur. It is difficult for me to list the names of all other labour officers whose valuable guidance greatly helped me in understanding the problems. Some of the workers' representatives of the mills who extended their unreserved cooperation deserve my grateful thanks.

I also take this opportunity to acknowledge my indebtedness to all those who have helped me during the course of my research. I can not name all of them but I am thankful to each one of them.
