ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This study was conducted under “Stork Ecology Project” funded by the US Fish & Wildlife Service through the Ministry of Environment and Forests and Wildlife. I thank both the agencies for it.

My special thanks to Mr. David Ferguson, co-ordinator, US Fish & Wildlife Service who has been very instrumental in the progress of this project. He visited our field stations many times to know about the work and encouraged us.

I thank Ms. Kim McClurg for her concern and help provided for the smooth functioning of this project and making my visit to the United States comfortable.

I would like to thank Dr. Asad R. Rahmani, the Principal Investigator of Stork Ecology Project and my supervisor, who encouraged me throughout the study period. He visited my field station many times to guide and help me out of many controversies. His prompt response of comments on the thesis helped me in completing the work on time. I am thankful to Prof. H. S. A Yahya, Chairman, Centre for Wildlife & Ornithology, for help and support. I shall be thankful to Prof. Shamim Jairajpuri, ex-dean of Life Sciences for help and encouragement.

My sincere thanks to Dr. Malcolm C. Coulter, Co-chairman, Specialist group on Storks, Ibises and Spoonbills, consultant, Stork Ecology Project for sharing his knowledge and time with us during all his visits to India. He provided most of the important papers on storks and introduced me to the statistical package STATA 5.0 (1997) that was used in performing most of the analyses. He made my trip to the United States quite informative by introducing me to Dr. Helen Heys, Ornithologist, studying terns on Great gull Island, New York and valuable discussions with her and other people working in the team helped me to a great extent.

I thank Dr. Jan Stevenson and Dr. Christopher Craft who taught me about ecology of streams and rivers and wetland ecology at University of Michigan Biostation, Pellston. They helped me to understand statistics and methods for analysing water quality. I shall be thankful to Ms. Nicole, the librarian, biostation for providing scientific papers.

I owe my sincere thank to Dr. Sàlim Javed, co-investigator, Stork Ecology Project, for his supervision during Dr. Asad R. Rahmani’s absence. He extended all his support and help without any hitch and critical examination of my thesis write-up to improve the quality of work.

I should thank Rajasthan Forest Department, Mr. R. G. Soni, Chief Wildlife Warden, for allowing me to work in Keoladeo National Park. I shall always be thankful to Ms. Shruti Sharma, Director, Keoladeo National Park, who was there to help me out of many controversies and encouraged me all the time. Her husband Mr. Arun Chandola was very supportive and helped me to complete my work on time.
I have a deep sense of gratitude for my landlord in Bharatpur, Mr. Maheshchand Singhal and his family who made my stay in Bharatpur comfortable and provided a homely atmosphere to live there. I shall be thankful to Dr. Renu Kohli for her help provided in the beginning of this field study.

I shall always be thankful to Mr. Satish Kumar for his timely guidance and encouragement in the analysis and writing thesis. My colleagues Mr. G. Maheswaran and Mr. Hillol Jyoti Singha helped me in all possible ways in the completion of this thesis. I thank Ms. Huma Waseem for proof reading of some chapters and support. I owe thanks to Ms. Tahmina Shafiq for her help.

I would be thankful to Ms. Aisha Sultana, Mr. Shah Hussain, Ms. Sunita Pradhan, Ms. Orus Ilyas and Ms. Sarala Khaling for their help and support during the completion of this thesis.

I am thankful to my teachers Dr. Jamal A. Khan and Mr. Afifullah Khan for their constant encouragement. I thank my senior Dr. Ashfaque Ahmad for his help.

My special thanks to Ms. Faiza, Mr. Junaid, Mr. Khursheed, Mr. Shahid and Ms. Sumita for their support and encouragement.

I am thankful to Mr. Zafar-ul-Islam for sending papers from BNHS library and concern for my work.
I am thankful to my friends and roommates- Ms. Sheeba, Ms. Darakhshan, Ms. Nighet, Ms. Nasheed, Ms. Huma and Ms. Sabiya for their help and a wonderful time in the hostel.

My thank is due for Mr. Mehboob Alam for the help provided during field work especially while conducting surveys around the Park and Mr. Ali Hussain who helped in banding the storks. I owe special thanks to my field assistant Mr. Govind Singh for his help in the field. I thank Mr. Randhira and Mr. Brijendra Singh, assistants, BNHS for their help in plant identification. I shall be thankful to Mr. Dharam Singh for the help provided during banding of the birds.

My thank is due to the librarian, Ms. Nasreen who helped in providing literature and non-teaching staff for their co-operation in the smooth running of this project.

Lastly, I would like to thank my brother, sister and special thanks to my mother who tolerated my absence from home and encouraged me during crucial moments of my life. It would not have been possible for me to complete this work without her encouragement.

There were many people who helped me at different stages of my work and I might have missed to include some of them. I shall always be thankful to all of them for their kind co-operation.
