Acknowledgement

The passion to explore the unexplored is what drives one’s spirit towards excellence. And, the journey though challenging at times is the most rewarding experience. However, to reach the desired destination, our determination must align with dedication to get to the right direction. Having said this, during the course of my journey, there were times when I felt exhausted; sometimes, I even thought of quitting before reaching the destination. But, with the support of and encouragement from friends and well-wishers, I continued to tread along this path with total dedication. Now that I have accomplished my goal, I would like to take this opportunity to convey my sincere gratitude to all those who have contributed in numerous ways to help give a final shape to my thesis.

First and foremost, I would like to express my gratitude to my supervisor, Dinkar Nayak, for giving me the opportunity to carry out this research under his able guidance. I am fortunate to have a teacher like him. Without his generous suggestions, motivation and guidance, work on this thesis would not have been possible. He answered all my queries with patience and was always available. He has not only helped me to keep my focus in the right direction, but also inspired me to complete this research. His comments and suggestions have helped structure this study in the best possible manner.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to my mentor and former colleague, Professor Vijaya Katti of the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, for motivating me to pursue a PhD. She provided an environment with many opportunities to learn through discussions. A constant source of moral support, she has always encouraged me to pursue my professional goals.

I would like to convey my special appreciation and thanks to Professor K.S. Chalapati Rao of the Institute for Studies in Industrial Development, New Delhi. I shall always be indebted to him for his encouraging words, parental affection, taking out time to monitor my progress with great enthusiasm, and for providing the necessary flexibility and moral support to pursue my academic interests with complete freedom. His never-ending energy and optimism have been a great source of encouragement to me. On his busiest day, too, he was always available to help answer my queries. I owe him a lot.

I am very grateful to Professor K.V.K. Ranganathan of the Institute for Studies in Industrial Development, whose thorough reading of an earlier draft of this study and valuable comments and suggestions were extremely valuable. His teaching and guidance on various databases have helped me enormously during my study.

I take this opportunity to thank Dr. Sankar Jha for his kind help. He has been a great help to me ever since the day I landed in Baroda. From filling up the form to the submission of the thesis, at each step he has rendered a helping hand. I believe that without his kind support, it would have been very difficult for me to reach my goal. Words alone cannot communicate the thank you I owe to him.

I extend my special thanks to my friend Dr. Rijesh R. I have immensely benefitted from the discussions held with him during the various stages of the study, especially during the analysis of the data. He taught me how to analyse and interpret data. His comments have helped me improve the study to a large extent. I am grateful for his cooperation and contribution.

I take this opportunity to thank my friend Pravin Jadhav for helping me collect and analyse the data. Our discussions with regard to the study of literature have helped me acquire an in-depth knowledge of the subject. He, too, has been a source of great moral support. I cherish and value my association with him.

I am thankful to the staff at Hansa Mehta Library and the Department of Commerce, MSU, for their co-operation and co-ordination. I would also like to convey my sincere thanks to the library staff at JNU New Delhi, IIFT New Delhi, ICRIER New Delhi, IEG New Delhi and ISID New Delhi.

I am indebted to Mr. Adil Karim of the State Bank of Pakistan for sending me the FDI data of Pakistan (Time series). I thank him for his valued cooperation.
Many of my friends have supported and helped me in various ways during the course of the study. My sincere thanks to VS Hall friends: Karan, Rahul D Dhande, Rakesh, Neetesh, Mahesh, Anshuman, Asish, Mayank and others who made my stay in Vadodara joyful and enjoyable. Life in Vadodara would have been seriously difficult without the company of such good natured, warm-hearted and generous friends especially Karan and Rahul D Dhande.

Staff at VS Hall has always been helpful. I owe them a debt of gratitude.

Thanks are also due to Kartik, Subhrajit, Mithun, Yogesh, Asish, Vinod sir, J.P. sir, Rajneesh, Vinit Gupta, and Sanjay for their help, encouragement and motivation.

I am thankful to all my colleagues at ISID for their good wishes.

A special “thank you” goes to my wonderful family for their encouragement and cooperation through the years, especially during my academic journey.

Last but not least, I would like to thank the Almighty for His immense blessings and the strength provided not only to undertake this journey, but also to complete it.

Rahul Nath Choudhury