

A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T

It gives me immense pleasure to gratefully acknowledge the competent, meticulous and enduring supervision provided by Dr. Noor Mohammad, Professor Dept. of Sociology and Dean, Faculty of Social Science Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. Under whose supervision and able guidance the present study came to its final shape. His deep understanding of sociological investigations and his vast experience of theoretical and empirical research, have oriented and conditioned if not determined the formulations arrived at in this thesis. I also acknowledge his generosity of time and place that was always forthcoming, which is indispensable for such kind of academic work.

I also wish to acknowledge the moral support and valueable suggestions given by Dr. Jamil Farooqui, Associate Professor, International Islamic University, Dept. of Sociology and Anthropology, Selanger, Malaysia for completion this work.

I also sincerely acknowledge my thanks to all my other teachers, Dept. of Sociology, A.M.U., Aligarh for their sincere inspirations and constant encouragement.

Dr. Bashir A. Daabla, Head, Dept. of Sociology University of Kashmir encouraged me during the preparation of this thesis. I am grateful to him for his constant help.

(ii)

I am indebted to many of my friends and colleagues especially Dr Said-ur-Rehman Lecturer, Dept. of Sociology, A.M.U., Aligarh for his continuous academic help and cooperation.

Words fail me in expressing the debt of gratitude that I owe to my father who has stood me through thick and thin throughout my academic career. The present work is nothing but an encapsulation of his blessings and hard work. It is my pleasure and privilege to register my thanks to him.

This is gratifying to record my warm personal thanks to all my family members especially my special honour and thanks are due to my parents-in-law for their infinite love, sincere inspiration and immeasurable cooperation. I am deeply beholden to all of them from the core of my heart.

I am admiring of the patience, devotion and unfailing courtesy throughout noted of my husband Dr. Nasir A. Naqash in the completion of this work. I am grateful to him from the deeps of my heart.

I am last but not least thankful to Mr. Meraj Uddin at Design Centre, Amir Nishan, Aligarh for typing this manuscript in time.
