ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I am greatly indebted to my supervisor, late Professor Anwar Ansari, for his invaluable guidance in conducting the present investigation. I am also indebted to Professor A. Jamil Qadri, Head of the Department of Psychology, Aligarh Muslim University, and Dr. Qamar Hasan for going through the manuscript and for giving me precious comments and suggestions.

My thanks are due to Professor (Mrs.) G. Ansari for giving me inspiration during the course of this study. Alongwith, I express my gratitude to my teachers, research scholars, and other members of Department of Psychology, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, and to the staff members of Maulana Azad Library, for their kind help.

Finally, I am thankful to those who served as subjects in this study, to Mr. Mashhood Alam Raz for typing the report of the study and to many others who have helped me in one way or other to complete the study.
