My Ph.D years, at the Punjabi University, of this thesis have had mentorship from numerous outstanding individuals both from within the university and outside of it. It is to these individuals, that my heartfelt gratitude and thanks go out to, for without their help, this thesis would not have been possible.

First and foremost I would like to thank my supervisor, Dr. (Mrs.) Vipla Chopra, Retd. Professor of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala for her incessant guidance, perspicacious thoughts, constructive criticism, wonderful analysis, enthusiasm, inspiration, and her great efforts to explain things clearly and simply. Throughout my thesis writing period, she provided encouragement, sound advice, good teaching, good company, and lots of good ideas. It has been a great opportunity to work under such an experienced and caring teacher. She gave her valuable time out of her busy schedule and helped me in solving my problems.

I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks to Dr. Balbir Singh, Dr. Harvinder Kaur and Dr. Manisha Sharma for their indispensable help, and their valuable suggestions about research work undertaken by me. I also owe my thanks to Dr. R.K. Bansal, Dr. Gian Singh, Dr. O.P. Miglani, Dr. Gurbachan Kaur Bhatia, Dr. Shakuntla Gupta, Dr. Inderjeet Singh and Dr. Parmod Aggarwal for their valuable suggestions.

My sincere thanks are to Dr. R.K. Ghai, for his emotional and moral support. I am also grateful to Mrs. Rajni Bhalla, Mr. Pankaj Bhalla, Mrs. Santosh Saldi and Mrs. Sudesh Marya who provided all possible care and facilities with great affection for conduct of field survey and successful completion of the present work. I am failing in my duty if I do not acknowledge the help provided by my friends – Ms. Bharti Kapur, Ms. Aruna Chauhan, Mrs. Jasleen Kaur, Mr. Dharminder Singh and Mr. Parveen Kumar - in completing this work and helping me out at the time of distress. I am also indebted to my colleagues for providing a stimulating and motivating environment to learn and grow.

Words fail to express my deepest gratitude to all the respondents only because of them I am able to complete this study. Finally, I wish to thank Mr. Harjinder Singh for helping me to transforming this research work into final shape with utmost care and perfection. I also thank all the persons who directly or indirectly helped in more than one ways.
