Acknowledgement

I owe life indebtedness to Almighty GOD who has showered light and gave strength to me throughout the course of my study and in my life.

The completion of a thesis warrants constant supervision and able guidance in various ways. I am indeed very fortunate to have Dr. Manjit Singh Nijjar, Professor, Department of Law, Punjabi University, Patiala, as my guide whose constant vigilance and effective guidance facilitated me to complete this work. To work under his able guidance is really not only a great educational experience in itself but also a cherished privilege a student can aspire. His comments on each chapter, both at the stage of planning and final arrangement, enriched my thoughts profusely and provided me a novel approach to tackle the various aspects undertaken in this work. I am highly indebted to him, who despite his pre-occupation took unfailing interest, gave encouragement and wise consultation. So, I extend my sincere thanks and gratitude to him for able and prompt guidance throughout this work. I also take the opportunity to thank Mrs. Surinder Kaur Nijjar who always greeted me with benevolent smile and a family like care, comfort and hospitality whenever, I visited their house for any guidance.

I also owe my profound thanks to Dr. Pushpinder Kaur Dhillon, Professor and Head, Department of Law, Punjabi University, Patiala.
who despite her busy schedule spared her valuable time and provided useful guidance towards the completion of this work. My heartfelt are also due to all members of the Faculty of Law for their suggestions.

I am equally grateful to Professor, Dr. Gurpreet Kaur Pannu for the moral support and encouragement to accomplish this research work. The help and inspiration given by Dr. Kashmir Singh, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar, Professor, Shashi Sharma, Panjab University, Chandigarh played an important role in keeping my spirit up to accomplish this research work.

I have no words to express my gratitude to my father S. Sukhdev Singh Bhangu, my mother Mrs. Jaswinder Kaur Bhangu, my father-in-law S. Harjinder Singh Basati, my mother-in-law Mrs. Karamjit Kaur Basati and the other members of my family who were right behind me through the difficult phases of this academic pursuit. It was, but for their forbearance, help and inspiration that this work could be completed on time.

No words of mine can adequately express sincere and heartfelt thanks to my dear husband Mr. Gurdeep Singh Basati, who stood by me in the strongest winds and gave me his unflinching support, love and confidence throughout this task. I am also indebted to my son Harpartap
Singh for the continuous support and love by sparing me from my responsibilities for the time being consumed in completing this work.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not mention about the blessings of my other family members, Pinky Bua ji, my cousins Mannu Gill and Kanwar Gill who took personal headaches to complete this research.

I express my gratitude towards my friends Dr. C.K. Negi, Harinder Kaur, Arpinder Khaira, Chand, Simmi Nijjar, Harry Nijjar, Mehak Iqbal and other concerned persons, for their encouraging moral support and co-operation through the period of this work.

My special thanks are due to my friend Supreet, for her valuable help and encouragement to complete this study.

I wish to put on record my sincere thanks to the office staff of the Department of Law, the staff of libraries of Punjabi University, Patiala; Panjab University, Chandigarh; Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar; Indian Law Institute; Law Commission of India, Delhi University; Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University, Delhi; Indian Institute of Advanced Studies, Shimla and H.P. University, Shimla.

I would be failing to my duty if I do not acknowledge my immense gratitude to the authors of various books, research articles, journals, reports which I have used as source materials.
I am thankful to all the respondents for their much needed co-operation without which the research work has never been completed.

I extend my special thanks to Mr. Rajan (Universal Documentations, Patiala) taking meticulous care, patience and accuracy in typing manuscript.

Once again I acknowledge my deepest debt of gratitude to Dr. Manjit Singh Nijjar who was kind enough even to go through the final manuscript and without whose constant motivation, noble guidance, dynamic way of expression and active encouragement, this study could not have been completed and presented in present form.

Last but not the least, I am grateful to all those who helped me directly or indirectly to achieve the goal and to whom I have not been able to express my gratitude individually in completion of this Study.
