ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I have great pleasure in acknowledging the help and assistance extended to me by the following individuals and institutions during the course of this study.

First and foremost, I place on record my deep sense of gratitude to Professor C.A.H. Haqqi, for his inspiring guidance and expert supervision of this study. He has taught me many things in his simple and graceful manner. I had made very heavy demands on his precious time and also energy. His response has always been magnanimous. He has also been very kind and sympathetic to me. I am, indeed, deeply indebted to him.

I take this opportunity to thank the Government of Andhra Pradesh for having granted me the necessary permission to undertake this study and the Director of Public Instruction Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, for having sanctioned leave for the purpose.

I am deeply indebted to Sri D. Sangameswar Rao, Assistant Director of Public Instruction, Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, who has been my mentor and benefactor, and a source of strength and inspiration for the past ten years.

I also express my gratitude to Sri P. Hanumantha Rao, Assistant Director of Public Instruction, Andhra Pradesh,
Hyderabad, Sri Y. Viswanatham, and Sri S. Raghavachar, the former and present principal's respectively, of the Government Arts & Science College, Chittor, Andhra Pradesh, for their help and encouragement.

I thank Sri T. Albert David, Sri K. V. Appu Rao, Lecturers in History and Politics, respectively, and many other friends and colleagues at the Government Arts & Science College, Chittoor, who have taken keen interest in my work and have encouraged me in many ways.

I am grateful to my friends Mr. Mohammad Ghouse, Lecturer, Faculty of Law, Dr. M. A. Kishore, Lecturer in Political Science, and Mr. Gaffoor Khan, Lecturer in Chemistry, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. Without the moral and material support of these friends it would have been almost impossible for me to complete this work.

My thanks are also due to Dr. M. Ayub and Dr. S. Rahmatulla Khan of the Indian School of International Studies, New Delhi, and the Librarian and Mr. Ansari, the Assistant Librarian of the Sapru House Library, New Delhi for their kind cooperation and help. I also thank the Librarian and staff of the Maulana Azad Library, A.M.U., Aligarh.

I thank my friends Messrs. P. Raghunatha Rao and A. V. Koti Reddy of the Andhra Pradesh Educational Services;
S. Sabapathy of the Ministry of Labour and Employment, Government of India, K. Narasimha Chari of the Department of Political Science, Osmania University, Hyderabad, and my co-scholars T.A. Nizami and A.H. Gowhary for many acts and gestures of friendship and encouragement. I thank Mr. Azmatullah Qureishy for typing out the thesis in a very short period.

Last but not least, I express my profound sense of gratitude to my kith and kin — elders and youngsters alike — for their indulgence, without which I could not have even thought of undertaking a study of this kind.

— M.M. RAHMAN