I have selected the topic Employment Exchange for the dissertation because unemployment is the most burning problem of the day. As it is well known to everybody that the prosperity of the country is the objective of our plans. Moreover prosperity can be brought about in the country only if the unemployment problem is tackled effectively. The Employment Exchanges can play an important part in solving this problem. But the Employment Exchanges as they are functioning at present have certain short comings. If these short-comings are eliminated these Employment Exchanges will play an important role in the attainment of maximum possible employment in our country.

I am deeply indebted to my supervisor, Prof. Mohammad Shabbir Khan, who very kindly and generously guided me and made valuable suggestions for improvements when this study was under preparations.

My thanks are due, to, the Assistant Employment Officer Mr. Badrudin Khan, Statistical Assistant Mr. Dilshad Ali Khan and head clerk Mr. Om Prakash Varshney, who devoted their valuable time in oral discussions about the present situation of Aligarh Employment Exchange Organisation.

In the last I am also thankful to my friend Shah Ainul Hamideen, who sometimes helped me in the collection of data.
