

Physiology of Calcium Metabolism. Physiol. Rev. 33 : 424-444.

O'Dell, B.L., Newberne, P.M. and Savage, J.E. (1958).

The effect of low calcium high phosphorus diets at various levels and rations upon the production of Pathology in Experimental Malnutrition. In "World Review of Nutrition and Dietetics". (Ed.) G.H. Bourne, London.

A comparative study of vertebrates. Calcium in reproductive physiology, Chapt. 2, pp. 7-14, 1st ed.
Modern Biological Studies. Chapman and Hall Ltd.,

and Physiology of Bone". (Ed.) G.H. Bourne, Vol. III,

Chem. 205 : 993-999.

Stewart, R.J.C. (1965). Bone Pathology in Experimental Malnutrition. In "World Review of Nutrition and Dietetics". (Ed.) G.H. Bourne, Vol. V, pp. 275-337, in Experimental Malnutrition. In "World Review of Nutrition and Dietetics". (Ed.) G.H. Bourne, Vol. V,

1 : 1. cf : Stewart, R.J.C. (1965). Bone Pathology in Experimental Malnutrition. In "World Review of Nutrition and Dietetics". (Ed.) G.H. Bourne, Vol.V, pp. 275-337, Encyclopaedia Britannica. Vol. 3, pp. 844-845 and Vol. 6,

pp. 272-273. Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc., Chicago, London, Toronto.

(Eds.) E.S.E. Hafez and I.A. Dyer, Chapt. 12, pp. 217-235, Lea and Febiger, Philadelphia.

Zucker, T.F., Hall, L. and Young, M. (1941). Growth and calcification on a diet deficient in phosphate but 