Thailand to which I belong and other countries in South-east Asia are known to be the receptacles of Indian culture from the time immemorial. This consideration coupled with the interest in going deeply into the study of Indian culture, Thailand's mother culture, has made me select the subject stored in the Purānic literature for my research work for Ph.D. degree. The reasons for selecting the Dharmāranya Purāṇa (=DP.) are mentioned in the statement no.1 of the synopsis. Here the technical procedures in this thesis may be mentioned, i.e. the transliteration of Sanskrit words and passages is adopted throughout and the unspecified references such as II. 9 always refer to the DP. Thus III. 55 = DP. III. 55. It should be noted that the text used for this study is the one published by Prabhashankar Jayashankar Pathak in 1924 from Bombay.

It is noteworthy to mention that the identification of important places mentioned in the DP. is done by personal field-study as far as possible. In this connection, I have taken photographs of certain places myself and they are used for illustrating the relevant points in this thesis.
I take this opportunity to perform the most pleasant duty of expressing my deepest sense of gratitude to my most revered guide Dr. S.G. Kantawala for his excellent guidance without which this work would not be completed. During the whole course of my study under him, he, inspite of the heavy load of work under his responsibility, spent his most precious time with me in reading most critically every word of my work, in discussing some debatable points, in explaining pain-takingly the difficult ones and in making various valuable suggestions. His paternal care, inspiration, encouragement, interest in the progress at very step of my work and the Gujarati hospitality of the members of his family have been not only helpful to my study but also made an unerasable impression on my happy memory. Indeed, my indebtedness to him is beyond any expression of words.

I am also highly grateful to the most revered Prof. A.N. Jani, who has also played a great part in pushing my work to see the light of the day by his valuable suggestions, lending of books in various capacities and what not. His keen interest in my work was evinced in various occasions. To mention a few, he readily provided me with a rare opportunity to witness sacred rituals of the Hindus, by which I could have the first hand-knowledge about them, and in some occasions such as visiting holy places, he took pain explaining to me the customs and rituals connected with them. Indeed, it is a privilege to have been his student. Moreover, his erudition and religious pragmatism have greatly inspired as well as impressed me and thus deepened my interest in Sanskrit-study.

I am equally grateful to Dr. P.M. Modi, whose inspiration and encouragement have made me take up this study. He never lost sight of the spirit of a born teacher. He never spared a moment available to him to teach me Sanskrit in connection with my thesis as well as in general.

I am also grateful to Prof. (Dr.) R.N. Mehta equally for his instruction in archaeological survey technique, for his critical perusal of some portion of my thesis, and for his valuable suggestions.

My thanks are due to my friend, Shri Harish D. Vyas for his accompanying me during my field-trip to Modhera, Becharaji, Vanpore, Bijapurda, Chanasma, Kamboi, Delmal, Patan, Dhinoj and Sidhpur. He acted as my mouth-piece in asking for valuable information from local people. Without him my trip would not be fruitful.

(iii)
My thanks are also due to my friend, Mr. Prachote Sangkhanukit for his accompanying me during my field-trip to Viramgam, Mandal, Loṭeśvara, Harij, Becharaji, Modhera and Adalaj. His experience in archaeological survey has helped me a great deal in identifying many places. Moreover, his encouragement and personal help in various ways have played no less a part in pushing my work to its completion.

In this connection I also thank Phra Maha Chamras Phodhipracha for his company in my first trip to Modhera and Becharaji for preliminary study of the places.

I thank Mr. Vullope Thammaprateep for his help in preparing maps and other artistic work.

I am very much thankful to Miss Prakob Charuenpan, Miss Saita Prasertphak, Miss Kuntol Ruangsongkram, Mr. Prachote Sangkhanukit, Mr. Vullope Thammaprateep, Shri Harish D. Vyas, Shri Kishor G. Dave and Shri Labhashankar M. Joshi for their help in carrying out the tedious task of putting the diacritical marks.

I thank Prof. (Dr.) A.M. Shah, University of Delhi, Shri H.M. Jani, Shri B.K. Trivedi, Shri B.P. Pandy for supplying valuable reading materials, useful information and help in various ways.

I also thank Shri Harish D. Vyas, Shri Tushar A. Tikiwala and Shri Nitin J. Vyas for translating Hindi and Gujarati passages.

I thank Phra Maha Prachitr Mahahing, Mr. Choosakdi Dipayagasorn and Mr. Rong Tongdadas for their help in some way or other.

I thank the Colombo Plan for its financial assistance without which it would have been difficult for me to carry out this study.

Lastly I thank the Government of India and the Government of Thailand for granting my request for extension of the scholarship and study-leave respectively, which enable me to complete my research.

Baroda
22nd September 1975
Chirapat Prapandvidya

(v)