Acknowledgements

Though my name graces this dissertation, several people contributed to its completion in very significant ways. This work is a labour of love and as the nature of labour tends to be, it was at times a painful arduous journey. Yet, I rejoice in what has been birthed.

I humbly thank my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ for always being there for me. The completion of my work would not have been possible without His Love, His Divine Wisdom and Grace. My accomplishment is His.

I sincerely thank my guide, Prof. Esther Syiem for her example of academic excellence, rigor and commitment to my work. Her untiring efforts in my development as a scholar are tremendously appreciated. Her guidance and support will forever be appreciated.

I take this opportunity to express my deepest sense of gratitude to Prof. T. Ao for being a great source of inspiration both in my personal and academic life. Her caring attitude is what moves me every time we converse. May the good Lord continue to bless her.

My gratitude goes to all the Faculty Members of the Department of English, N.E.H.U. for affirming my work and granting me with the opportunity to complete yet another degree.

My gratitude also goes to the non-teaching staff of the English Department, N.E. H.U. for furnishing me with all the help I needed.

I sincerely extend my earnest appreciation to the Central Library of N.E.H.U. and to the American Information Resource Center, Kolkata for supplying me with the much needful books and in so doing, assisted me in the completion of my work.
I am indebted to Bah Godfrey Pathaw for being a godsend. I am grateful to him for giving my work that fine-looking touch and for assuring me that the press would finish my work on time.

I am grateful to the Head of the Department of English, Lady Keane College Prof. S.K. Kathing for encouraging and instilling in me the spirit of hard work and of course for helping me with the “scripts”.

I am extremely thankful to all my friends for their love and encouragement which helped me think through the work.

I am deeply indebted to my “mei” and “papa” for their unconditional support. Their prayers sustained and inspired me spiritually. Their faithfulness blesses my life and helps make my work live. I am extremely grateful to my husband for his love, support and sacrifice which sustained me in the midnight hours. Thank you for encouraging and standing by me.
