ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am deeply indebted to my supervisor, Professor A C Mohapatra, Department of Geography, NEHU, Shillong for his stimulating guidance, constant encouragements and untiring help throughout the course of the study.

My heartfelt thanks go to all the teaching and non-teaching staff of the Department of Geography, NEHU, Shillong for much assistance provided to me and to the University for providing necessary facilities in the Department.

I am deeply indebted to Mr. S. Muthamiselvan's family, who initially encouraged me to use his computer to work for my data analysis. Mr. K. Rajendran, Father of the Mawlai Theological College, Mawlai, Mr. M. Arularasu, Father Christ King College, Shillong and also Mr. S. Isias, Teacher, St. Mary's Higher Secondary School, Shillong who initially helped me to collect field data in Mawlai area.

I also would like to thank Mr. B. Dutta, Director, Department of Urban Affairs, Government of Meghalaya, Shillong for providing with needful statistical information for my research work on Shillong.

My heartfelt thanks are to Dr. S. Jeeva, Department of Botany, Scott College, Nagarcoil and Dr. A. Murugan, Department of Chemistry, Chennai who had helped me at various stages of my research work. Mr. Joseph Jeremiah, Mr. Hanns J. Freddy, Mr. K. T. Prasad, and Mr. A. Venkateshwara Rao, research scholars in NEHU, Shillong, who were always ready to help me as and when I needed their help during the present research work.
without their support and cooperation it would have not been possible to complete my research work.

My special thanks goes to the Principal, Mrs. Lalitha Ramachandran and all the staff of K.V. No.1, Naval Base School, Kochi for their support and co-operation from time to time during the course of my research work.

My great pleasure and gratitude goes to Dr. N.P. Goel, Lecturer, CACE, NEHU, Shillong for his constant help and encouragement throughout the course of my work.

I express my sincere gratitude to my beloved parents and brothers for their support, encouragement and inspiration in completing this research work. I also express my gratitude to my wife, A. Vani and my daughter for their patience, tolerance and prayers without which my thesis would not have been completed.

N. AMBIKAPATHY

SHILLONG dated 28 May, 2009