ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I consider myself very fortunate to have Professor E. N. Lall as my Supervisor who had not only guided me but had also inspired, encouraged and intervened with his profound scholarship and depth that helped me exacting my work and refining my thoughts and critical perspectives. I express my deep gratitude to him.

I am extremely grateful to Professor Jasbir Jain of Rajasthan University who had inspired me to carry out a study on Shepard and was too kind to allow me to have access to some of the most rare materials on Shepard which were not available anywhere in India. Without such kind allowance it would have been very difficult to complete such a work at the first place. Prof. Pradip Acharya of Cotton College, Guwahati, always stood by me as a reassuring force with his brilliant scholarship and deep creative insight during the entire period of my work. I am ever grateful to him.

The completion of my work would never have been a reality had my Principal, Professor Santosh Sarkar and my Head, Dr. Bharat Bhushan Mohanty not provided the necessary administrative supports to carry out the work uninterruptedly. I also gratefully recall their scholarly suggestions and friendly encouragements that doubly motivated me when it was most wanting.

I render my thanks to the ASRC, Hyderabad, for all their professional help and an award of TSG grant to work in the ASRC library.

I acknowledge my deepest thanks to my friends Arunava, Prashanta, Deepak, Deba, Prasenjit, Sukalpa and Rajesh for their spiritedly scholarly engagement with my work which helped me to improve my work as well as enabled me to evolve new ideas and perspectives that enriched my endeavour. I am extremely thankful to Bapida, Gautam Roy Choudhury, Mukherjeeda, all my teachers, colleagues and office staff at Chilarai College for their tremendous support and material help without which this work might not have found its final stage within deadline.
The work could never have been a reality without the constant support, encouragement, love, care and assurance of my mother and brother, Nilimoy. They always strengthened and restored my confidence every time to get totally involved with my study. I would never be able to repay to their kindness through any amount of thanks. I am thankful to my Barababa, Borna, Khura and Khuri for having ensconced me in the comfort of their reassuring presence around me.

I am grateful to Mrs. Bella Lall for her touching gestures, kind dispositions and warm motherly affection she showed in every stage of my work. I express my special thanks to Partha and Indrani who stood by me right at the time of my work’s formal beginning.

I must express my special thanks and gratitude to Bah Joseph F. Khongbuh who showed extreme forbearance and care in having the final work printed within deadline.

Finally, my relentless attachment with the work made me intimately aware of a divine reality and the accomplishment of my work could never have been a possibility without Her Grace.

DECEMBER, 2000

JOYTIRMOY PRODHANI