ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my earnest and heart-felt thanks to my supervisor Professor K.A. Manikumar, who offered valuable suggestions and critical comments on the subject of research which enabled me to complete the study to my satisfaction. My sincere thanks are due to Indian Council of Historical Research (ICHR), New Delhi, which provided me with a Junior Research Fellowship for two years.

I have been a student and scholar of Professor K.A. Manikumar for the past nine years in Manonmaniam Sundarnar University and I had the fortune of learning a lot from him and his family, particularly from Ms. Jeya Manikumar. They shaped my character and behaviour and made me a responsible person to my family and to the community in which I live. For this I owe my personal gratitude to Professor K.A. Manikumar and Ms. Jeya Manikumar.

I place on record my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. K. Sadasivan, Professor & Head, Department of History, Manonmaniam Sundarnar University for being a source of support and strength to me during my ICHR fellowship in the Department.

I am grateful to the library staff of Archives of Tamilnadu, Chennai, State Archives of West Bengal, Calcutta, National Library, Calcutta, Centre for Studies in Social Science, Calcutta, The Adyar Library and Research Centre, Chennai, Madras Institute of Development Studies, Chennai, Center for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram, Manonmaniam Sundarnar Universtiy, Tirunelveli, St. Xavier’s College, Palayamkottai and Tamil University, Thanjavur for their help in accessing the books and journals available in their respective institutions.

I should also thank my parents Mr. Jeyaraj and Ms. Annathai for their constant love and encouragement that sustained my interest in research. My father has stood by me and borne part of the financial burden this research work entailed. My mother has been supportive of my desire to pursue a long research career, suppressing her wish to see me get settled in real life.

Last but not the least, I thank Mr. Venkatesh and Ms. Priya for their assistance in typing this work neatly.
