Acknowledgements

Though there are many who have been helpful in the completion of the present work yet it is not possible to acknowledge all of them here due to the obvious limitation. Nevertheless, the contributions, cooperation and time to time guidance of Prof. J C Binwal is above all under whose supervision the present research work has been accomplished. I express my deep sense of gratitude to him for his guidance and help.

Data analysis by applying appropriate methodology has been a problem for some time and had to seek help and guidance from statisticians and computer professionals. Many helped, but Mr. Shankar Bose from Computer Division of Indian Council of Social Science Research, New Delhi has been very helpful in the processing of data using SPSS software. I am thankful to his assistance and expertise given to me.

Further, I was considerably assisted in data analysis, word processing and giving final shape to this work by Mr. Rafique Mostafa Kamal, Information Specialist, SAARC Agricultural Information Centre, Dhaka. It is my pleasant obligation to record his sincere help rendered to me. Lastly, I am also grateful to all those who have spared their valuable time to furnish the valuable data required for this research work.

Veena Saraf