Acknowledgements

The Lord’s praise shall continually be in my mouth for sustaining me through out to satisfactorily complete this thesis.

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to my mentor, long-standing friend and guide Dr. K. Balasubramanian, who generously offered all help to successfully complete the thesis on time. He has been a source of such deep support that it is difficult for me to find words to thank him. He has provided feedback and gentle criticism and encouragement. It was his gentle coercion that gave me the necessary impetus and confidence to continue. I would be failing in my duty if I do not thank the other loving members of his family for their warmth and hospitality.

I am grateful to Dr. S. Ravindranathan, the Dean of Studies of the University, and Dr. V. Sam Sahayam, the Head of the Department of English for cheering me all through this project by offering positive responses every time I happened to meet them.

Equally I offer thanks to my present Principal Dr. Devasobana Raj and the former Principal Dr. Loviah Joseph and the Scott Christian Management for their encouragement, and sometimes their threats without which I doubt whether I would be able to complete this thesis well in advance.

Some major debts remain. The first of these is to a small group of wonderful friends like M/s. Sebastian, James R. Daniel, N.J. Thomas, Edwinsingh, Janarthan, Godwin Wesley, Winston Somervel, Moses Jeyapaul, Dharan, Suresh Kumar, Robert Samraj, Pamela Oliver, Cynthia Jones, Beulah Renjith Singh and all my friends of the Padagalingom Circle without whom I would not have been able to cope with this work. These friends have advised, criticised and been there for me at all times. Secondly, I offer my thanks to Mr. Yesu Selvaraj, the Librarian of Scott Christian College, and all the Library Staff of the American College, Madurai for their valuable counsel in locating all the material I needed.

I also thank profusely Dr. Shiv K Kumar, the renowned novelist who gave me an audience at IACIS (ASRC) in Hyderabad in February 2000. Dr. Kumar was invited to preside over the poetry reading session with the Oregon poet Paulann Petersen. My informal interview with this great Indian litterateur Dr. Kumar is still fresh in my memory.

And finally, not in the least important, my own family: my mother Mrs. Selvamony, my wife Leela, my children Melvin and Reebu and my brother Christopher and his family and my father-in-law (the late) Mr. Sinson for their faith, their patience, their excellent advice and more importantly their persistent prayers without which I would have long back forgotten this project.

Finally I offer thanks to all my colleagues in the Department of English of Scott Christian College for their love, concern and much needed support.
